Three Youths Admit Robbery, Beatings

Trio Caught After Fleeing Station With Stolen Gasoline

A 22-year old and two teenagers have admitted beating two Appleton boys and robbing an Appleton man Sunday night.

They were questioned after Calumet County Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky took them into custody and Kenneth J. Liebergen, Hilbert, admitted getting gasoline at a Kaukauna service station and fleeing without paying earlier Sunday.

Liebergen was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail Monday by Kaukauna Justice of the Peace Oscar T. Jahns on a charge of disorderly conduct stemming from the gasoline theft.

Appleton police were waiting for him, and his court appearance followed today. He implicated the teenagers, aged 15 and 16 and brothers, also from Hilbert. The two boys are held in the Outagamie county juvenile detention cell awaiting further investigation.

The 16-year-old was placed on probation Wednesday for his part in three burglaries in Calumet county. His brother has no juvenile record.

"Terrible Thing" "It is a terrible thing when residents of this community can't walk safely on the streets because of people like you," Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede told Liebergen this morning.

He then sentenced Liebergen to a year in the Green Bay reformatory on an assault and battery charge and 30 days in the county jail for contributing to the delinquency of the two brothers.

The sentences are concurrent and in addition to the Kaukauna jail sentence.

Liebergen told the court he was on federal parole for stealing a gun while in the army. A hunting knife with a 4-inch blade was found in his car, but was not used in the Sunday incidents, Appleton police said.

Liebergen also admitted a beating on the Lawe street.

Debre Tells Rightists They Threaten Future of France

Cuban Warns U. S. Against More Marines

Consequence Would Be Millions of Cadavers, He States

Havana —(U)— Cuba's minister of justice said today "there will be millions of cadavers" if U. S. Marines land in this country.

The televised remarks of the minister, Alfredo Yabur, apparently were in reference to an earlier report by a local radio commentator that 10,000 marines had landed at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba. Normally a few hundred marines are stationed there.

The radio commentator's statement could not be confirmed from any source here.

At Norfolk, Va., an Atlantic fleet spokesman denied the report. He said the United States does not have 10,000 marines in the Caribbean area. He said, however, there had been no change in plans for large scale amphibious exercises beginning today at Vieques island, Puerto Rico, about 1,000 miles east of Guantanamo.

"Insult" to Revolution "It is insulting to the revolutionary government," Yabur declared, "that at the moment a foreign ambassador offends Cuba, thousands of North American marines land at the naval base."

"If there are thousands of marines," he added, "there'll be thousands of Cubans. If there are thousands of marines, there'll be millions of cadavers."

Yabur did not identify the ambassador but he apparently meant Spain's Juan Pablo de Lojendio, who was expelled by Prime Minister Fidel Castro last week for interrupting Castro's TV attack on Spain and the United States.

"We shall defend the nation even against atomic bombs because there is nothing worth while in life without dignity," said Yabur, who seldom makes public appearances.

U. S. Will Not Take Reprisals Against Cuba, Ike Declares

Says Anti-American Campaign Causes Concern, Perplexity

Washington —(U)— President Eisenhower today ruled out any United States reprisals at this time against Cuba's Fidel Castro regime.

The president told a news conference the Castro government's anti-American campaign causes concern and perplexes this country.

But, Eisenhower added, the American people still have great affection for the Cubans. The United States, he went on, is not going to be a party to any reprisals against Castro at this moment, and is certainly not going to intervene in Cuba's internal affairs.

Criticizes Castro

Immediately after the news conference, Eisenhower issued a statement saying, among other things, that:

"The United States government views with increasing concern the tendency of spokesmen of the Cuban government, including Prime Minister Castro, to create the illusion of aggressive acts, and conspiratorial activities aimed at the Cuban government and attributed to United States officials or agencies."

Eisenhower called such accusations "unfounded illusions," and said promotion of them can hardly contribute to good relations between the United States and Cuba.

"We believe these charges to be totally unfounded," the president said.

Senate Confirms Thomas S. Gates As Defense Chief

Washington —(U)—The senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of Thomas S. Gates, Jr., to be secretary of defense without any reference to the conflict over military strength evaluation.

Gates has been serving as secretary of defense under a recess appointment pending senate action.

Keep Order In Algeria, He Appeals

BY ULYS YATES

Paris —(U)— Premier Michel Debre warned Frenchmen today that "all can be lost" if order is not established and maintained in Algeria.

Debre issued the warning in an official statement after he returned from a middle-of-the-night visit to French insurgents still occupy the heart of the city.

It was a clear warning to Frenchmen that right-wing extremists are threatening the future of France itself unless they abandon their stubborn uprising.

The insurgent diehards were reported to have been promised the French army will not shoot them out of their barricades. But Debre declared the policy of self-determination for Algerians stands.

Nothing has happened that will deter pursuit of the aim of President Charles de Gaulle's administration to let Africans decide their own future, he said.

"There is no other issue in the crisis which is splitting Algeria," Debre declared after a noon meeting with De Gaulle at the presidential palace.

The French press agency said De Gaulle's military commander and civil representative in Algeria had promised

Charge President Slows U. S. Growth

Democrats Assert Policies Have Stunted National Gains

Washington —(U)— The Democratic majority on the senate-house economic committee charged today that Eisenhower administration policies had stunted the nation's economic growth since 1953.

Describing them as inadequate to meet the nation's needs, the Democrats said the policies also had led to unnecessary unemployment and price increases.

Republicans on the committee fired back that the majority report was "unbalanced and evasive," and "marred by partisanship."

The majority said it would not support removal of the interest ceiling on long term bonds — one of the president's major requests of the session — unless the administration made "major reforms in fiscal, monetary and debt management policies."

"Political Blackmail" This minority report described as "nothing but political blackmail."

The majority report was peppered with numerous recommendations for alternative policies to those followed by the administration in the last seven years.

One section recommended that the knotty farm problem be met by direct subsidy payments. It said the public will not endure much longer the present crop price support program.

Other recommendations included a major federal aid to education, help for depressed areas, tax revisions, more liberal foreign trade policies and more vigorous antitrust law enforcement.

Right to Work Contract Issue

Steel Agreement May Get Around States' Legislation

Washington —(U)— A provision which may get around the right-to-work laws now in effect in 19 states has been written into the new steel industry labor contracts. But it may be litigated up to the U. S. Supreme court.

Right-to-work laws prohibit any requirements in union contracts that a worker must belong to a labor union to get or hold a job.

The steel contracts require all workers outside the right-to-work states to maintain union membership and pay dues as a condition of their employment. This is the union shop arrangement that has been in steel contracts for some time.

The new provision says that in the right-to-work states employees will be required to pay regularly each month "a service charge as a contribution toward the administration of this agreement and the representation of such employees." The service charge is to be equal to the regular dues payment.

This latter arrangement, known as the "agency shop," allows the worker to avoid union membership but requires him to pay the equivalent of regular dues. If he doesn't he is to be fired.

3 Arrested as School Vandals

Racine —(U)— A 15-year-old boy and his 11-year-old sister have admitted to police that they broke into the Mitchell school over the weekend and damaged the building to the extent of $3,000 to $6,000.

They also implicated another boy in the series of four break-ins at the school building over the weekend.

Police quoted the youths as saying they were seeking money and when they didn't find it they lost their tempers and wrecked the school. Desks were overturned, glass broken, ink splattered on walls and records mutilated. Authorities said the youths were being questioned about other burglaries in the city recently.

Profit of Penny Per Tablet on Tranquilizers

Washington —(U)—The makers of Miltown tranquilizer said today their profit is a little more than a penny a tablet.

Henry H. Hoyt, president of Carter Products, Inc., said in testimony prepared for the senate anti-monopoly subcommittee that no reduction would be warranted in the present price of 10 cents a tablet.

The subcommittee is investigating prices charged for various drugs. It contends some of the wonder drugs are priced so high they cannot be bought by persons who need them. Current hearings are devoted to tranquilizer pills.

Dies in Apartment

Physician Blames Heart Disease For Death of Diana Barrymore

New York —(U)— Actress Diana Barrymore, 38, who made her life a tragic struggle to fulfill the mythical promise of her name, died yesterday.

Her nude body was found lying face down in bed by a maid at her fashionable east side apartment.

Her physician said she died of a heart attack but he refused to sign a death certificate because Miss Barrymore had no history of heart trouble. Police started an investigation.

Authorities said there was no indication of suicide. Miss Barrymore, who was trying to make a theatrical comeback after a life of alcoholism, degradation and broken marriages, had once made a suicide attempt.

She told her story in the best-selling autobiography, "Too Much, Too Soon." She was the daughter of the late John Barrymore, whose swashbuckling off stage matched anything he did on stage, and the late Blanche Oelrichs, who wrote plays and poems under the name Michael Strange.

Her aunt was Ethel Barrymore, and her uncle was Lionel Barrymore. Her theatrical ancestry went back four generations in this country and England. Diana Barrymore's name opened for her every door in show business, but when she made headlines, it was seldom in the critics' columns.

In her book, she wrote: "The fact that I came from a long line of Barrymores isn't going to make me feel that I must always keep striving to live up to their accomplishments." But she did keep striving.

In 1938-39, she was New York's "personality debutante." Her smiling, young face was photographed in all the fashionable night spots with cafe society escorts. Encouraged by her father, she launched a theatrical career in summer stock and quickly moved on to Hollywood.

Defends U. S. Space Progress

Americans Have No Need for Shame, President Says

Washington —(U)— President Eisenhower said today there is no reason for Americans to hang their heads in shame over the progress of the nation's space exploration program.

Eisenhower told his news conference that while the Russians have made some spectacular advances in space the United States has a pretty good record on a solid scientific basis.

The president was asked if he does not believe this country is losing international prestige by not matching Russian achievements in space.

Prestige Not Issue Turning on his questioner, Eisenhower asked, is international prestige involved? Not particularly, he said, answering his own question.

To an extent Eisenhower was disagreeing with George V. Allen, chief of the U.S. information agency, who said last week that people abroad are judging American capacity in comparison with Soviet space achievements.

The United States, Eisenhower went on, has a record to be proud of in the last five years in space exploration.

The president said it is obvious that spectacular achievements excite public interest more than the good, hard, steady work being done by U.S. scientists in putting satellites and other space vehicles.

Would Ban Color Additives if They Could Promote Cancer

Washington —(U)— Sec. of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming appealed today for quick congressional action to ban the use of color additives in foods, drugs and cosmetics if tests showed they could produce cancer.

He told the house commerce committee that scientists so far do not know how much of a possibly cancer-inducing substance is needed to produce cancer in humans.

Durfee is Assailed, Praised at Hearing

Proxmire Charges CAB Chairman Unethically Accepted Hospitality From Commercial Airline Firms

Washington —(U)— CAB Chairman James R. Durfee was both assailed Monday as having unethically accepted hospitality from commercial airlines and praised as a man of the highest integrity.

The criticism was made by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) at a senate judiciary subcommittee hearing to consider Durfee's nomination as a $25,000-a-year judge on the U. S. Court of Claims.

Free Rides

Proxmire said that as Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman, Durfee violated the CAB's own code of ethics in accepting free air rides and hospitality on three occasions — from the Flying Tiger, Overseas National, Eastern, and Trans World Airlines.

E. R. Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation agency, testified that he had worked intimately for two years with Durfee.

With the white haired Durfee sitting at the same table, Quesada said: "I've always found him to be helpful, sincere, judicial and in my opinion a very, very fine public servant."

A former CAB member, Joseph P. Adams, a Democrat, also praised Durfee, a Republican.

"In my opinion, the chairman's integrity is of the highest," Adams said.

The subcommittee, after hearing briefly from Durfee himself, recessed until today. The senators did not ask him about the questions Proxmire raised.

Proxmire Opposition
Proxmire opposed Durfee on both ethical grounds and what he called Durfee's lack of judicial qualifications.

Durfee said only one newspaper in Wisconsin had criticized him. He did not name the newspaper, but Proxmire had quoted at some length from stories in the Madison Capital Times.

As for his judicial qualifications, Durfee said: "A large number of persons have called me and said I was qualified for the job."

This was the first public outline of Proxmire's specific complaints but Durfee, with apparent advance knowledge, had replied in advance.

In a letter Jan. 8 to Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis), a member of the subcommittee and a Durfee backer, the CAB chairman defended the trips he has taken.

Durfee wrote that the trips to Mexico City and Rome were inaugural flights and participation in such flights "has been continuously and officially approved by the board since 1940."

Permit No Charge
On such flights, Durfee said, the airlines are not permitted to charge guest passengers because these are not considered as "air transportation" within the meaning of the Civil Aeronautics Act.

Durfee said that while he and other members of the CAB have been invited to participate in such inaugural flights at least 50 times in the past four years, he has participated in only the two Proxmire complained about.

Durfee also said the trip to Pinehurst was as the guest of both Flying Tigers and Overseas National which are competitors. The purpose of that trip, he said, was to discuss "the objective of trying to get a larger allocation of military aircraft for commercial air carriers."

In listing his accusations against Durfee, Proxmire read swiftly from a statement consisting of 24 pages of legal sized paper.

Whatever happens, Proxmire said he won't object to Durfee as "personally obnoxious." This device, when used by a senator against a man from his own state, as in this case, traditionally blocks the nomination from senate approval.

Tunisia has coupled an appeal for France to call off her nuclear bomb test in the Sahara with demands that she quit the Mediterranean naval base at Bizerte.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba issued the dual demand at the opening of an all-African conference here Monday. Addressing the crowd of 200,000, he predicted France eventually will head African opposition and decide not to "explode her little bomb, which has not even reached the scientific stage of the bomb of Hiroshima."

"Today," he added, "we demand the evacuation of Bizerte by French troops. We refuse to rent or sell part of our national territory despite our great need of money to struggle against underdevelopment."

Campaigning Expense Bill Seems Doomed

House Committee May Stop It for Political Reasons

Washington —(U)— A bill to control election expenditures, to which the senate devoted nearly two weeks, appeared likely today to die in a house committee pigeonhole.

Despite senate passage Monday by a 50-22 vote, politics were all against the measure. (Both Wisconsin senators voted with the majority.)

Every member of the house, except those voluntarily retiring or seeking other office, is a candidate for reelection this year. Though the bill wouldn't become operative until next year, it would affect house members who must face another campaign in 1962.

First Revision Effort
The bill is the first major congressional effort in 35 years to revise the corrupt practices act controlling the conduct of campaigns for federal office. It goes to the house administration committee headed by Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Texas).

Speaker Sam Rayburn already has lashed out at one of the measure's principal provisions, to extend federal regulation to primaries as well as general elections. Rayburn says control of primaries is a matter for the states.

The current outlook for the bill is that it may be given some hearings by the house committee, then be dropped, or toned down and allowed to expire in a senate-house conference committee.

Federal Officials
The bill would tighten controls on financing elections of federal officials, principally members of congress. The senate voted to extend it also to candidates for president and vice president. It would require more detailed disclosure of sources of campaign financing and how the money is spent.

It would prohibit individuals from contributing more than $10,000 a year to federal election campaigns. Present law limits contributions to $5,000 per candidate but does not limit the number of $5,000 contributions a person may make.

The bill also would boost legal limits on campaign spending to $50,000 for candidates for the senate and to $12,500 for candidates for the house. The present limit is $25,000 for senate and $5,000 for house candidates. Both the present law and the proposed new law allow higher expenditures in states and congressional districts with heavy voting records.

Kohler Strike Incident Under Investigation
East Lansing, Mich. —(U)— An investigation was ordered Monday into charges that the arrest of a man wanted in Wisconsin in connection with a Kohler company strike incident was aimed at aiding the reelection of a county prosecutor.

Joseph A. Childs, Michigan state police commissioner, ordered the probe. A preliminary report was expected today.

Childs said information from Nicholas Rothe, Detroit attorney for a United Auto Workers member, accused Oakland County Prosecutor George Taylor of ordering the arrest of William P. Vinson for political reasons.

Taylor Denies Charge
Taylor denied the charge. He said Rothe was bitter because he wanted Vinson's case heard in Detroit "where there are judges friendly to him." Taylor said he refused to allow that.

Vinson, 32, of Warrens, Mich., is charged with having taken part in the assault on William Bersch, Sr., and his son, William, Jr., in Sheboygan Falls, July 4, 1954.

India Celebrates 10 Independent Years

Pomp Overshadowed by Problems at Home, Troubles Lurking in Himalayan Mountains

New Delhi —(U)— India celebrated its 10 years of independence today with pomp but with problems looming at home and troubles lurking over the Himalayas.

It was exactly 30 years ago that Jawaharlal Nehru, then a 40-year-old insurgent, moved the resolution in the congress party's annual convention declaring India's goal was complete freedom from Britain.

It was Nehru, on the same date 21 years later, who inaugurated a republican constitution. The British had left 31 months earlier, on Aug. 15, 1947.

Long Procession
Today President Rajendra Prasad takes the salute at a 3-mile long procession which will end at the red sandstone fort which housed Mogul imperial headquarters in India 300 years ago.

Carts drawn by camels, bullocks and elephants jog along the 7-mile route while jet aircraft swoosh above.

Two thousand schoolboys and girls march, sing and dance in pageants.

Folk dancers, ranging from headhunters of the northeast to classical dancers, will perform.

During the 10 years of republican rule, the whole country, from the Himalayas to the Indian ocean, has come under one flag with the pensioning off of 600 princelings. India has become one of the most stable nations in Asia. It already has conducted two free national elections.

A second 5-year plan is nearing completion and in 15 months a third 5-year plan is to start.

But India still has a long way to go to achieve economic and social freedoms. Effective brakes have yet to be applied to reduce her population growth of about five million a year. She still has a chronic food deficiency.

Referring to Red China as "one of our neighbors," President Prasad in a broadcast last night reiterated his government's determination to have the border problem with Red China settled through negotiations, despite "provocations (from across the border) and rising popular resentment (within India)."

Official sources said one of the listeners to Prasad's broadcast was Soviet President Nikhita Khrushchev, here on an official visit.

Says Hoffa Wants Only Big Locals
Madison —(U)— Robert Kennedy, former counsel for the senate racketeers committee, said Monday that Teamsters President James Hoffa's rejection of a request for a Wisconsin local was part of a national plan.

"He wants to combine all locals into big unions and get his people into control of a large union," Kennedy said.

Robert is the brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a presidential aspirant who has entered Wisconsin's April 5 presidential primary. Robert, in Wisconsin to organize his brother's campaign, made the comments during a meeting of the supporters of the senator.

500 Want Local Union
Hoffa, who was in the state Sunday, met with 500 Mauston and New Lisbon truck drivers. They asked for a union local in their area and wanted to end affiliation with locals in Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Hoffa told truckers their local would not have sufficient bargaining power or financial resources to operate effectively. He said representatives from the three locals would meet in the Mauston-New Lisbon area every 90 days to settle area problems.

Red Official Given New Appointment

Kozlov Making Comeback After Plunge to Obscurity

Moscow —(U)— Alexei Ivanovich Kozlov, former Soviet agriculture minister who plunged to obscurity when Nikhita Khrushchev rose to power in 1955, apparently is making a comeback.

He was appointed Monday to head a newly created ministry of state farms in the Soviet republic of Kazakhstan.

The so-called virgin land farms in the area are one of Khrushchev's pet agriculture projects but they fell far short of 1959 production goals. As a result there has been a party and government shakeup in Kazakhstan.

Kozlov will seek to boost both productivity and efficiency of the farms.

Praised by Nikhita
He won lavish praise for his farm work from Khrushchev at the December meeting of the communist party's central committee.

Kozlov, who had been demoted to manager of one state farm in Kazakhstan, planned corn at the premier's request and produced top yields.

This supported Khrushchev's contention that the area could grow fodder and support livestock.

Kozlov bounded back to attention at a recent meeting of the communist party central committee at which Khrushchev raked Kazakhstan's leaders over the coals.

Khrushchev told the central committee Kozlov "deserves the order of Lenin for such work."

He added that "our party criticizes a worker when it is necessary but it forgives old mistakes and rewards people when they correct their mistakes and show good examples of work."

ADA Attack Appears To Give Strength to Johnson's Position

Implication Groups Other Democratic Candidates Under Rating as Liberals

Washington —(U)— A fresh attack by Americans for Democratic Action appeared today to have strengthened the position of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) as a middle of the road presidential hopeful.

The ADA's action in singling out Johnson as "a symbol of compromise and political opportunism" and therefore, it said, unfit for his party's presidential nomination, secretly delighted the friends of the senate Democratic leader.

They reasoned that, by implication at least, the ADA had said all others of those prominently mentioned to head the ticket could be grouped as liberals. This would tend to separate Johnson from the general flock of major candidates, including Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Liberal Positions
Johnson's supporters think his three colleagues are likely to force each other into taking some extremely liberal positions on national issues before the nominating convention meets in Los Angeles next July. They count on middle of the road Democrats from the north and the west to react and to supplement the southern strength Johnson will carry into the convention.

While his colleagues are out campaigning much of the time, Johnson will be busy supervising the writing of what he calls a responsible Democratic record in congress. He says he will let the voters judge whether that record is progressive.

If he can engineer it, this will include senate passage of an aid to education bill which may be broadened beyond mere school construction provisions.

Johnson supported teacher salary aid in a bill the senate passed in 1949. He apparently is prepared to do so again. His backing could help a group of 22 Democrats, most of whom class themselves as liberals, write an amendment of this nature into the bill which will be considered soon.

Bill Passage
The Democratic leader has pledged passage of civil rights, minimum wage and housing measures. He probably will support any bill the house approves for expansion of social security coverage and benefits.

The ADA's assertion that "the Democratic party would be failing in its responsibility to the nation" if it gave the voters only a choice between Johnson and Vice President Richard M. Nixon brought a sharp retort from senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

The ADA said Nixon had earned the support of GOP "ultra conservatives" by his "record in high office as well as by the kind of tactics which he has used in every campaign with which he has been associated."

Dirksen said this was the kind of comment that could be expected from an organization that advocated legislative programs "which would bankrupt the nation and intrude government deeper and deeper into the affairs of the people."

"Were it not for the leveling effect of the efforts of conservatives to hold the country on an even keel, the ADA spendocrats would ere now have taken us to the brink of fiscal disaster," Dirksen said.

Faces Court In Assaults On Women
Eau Claire —(U)— James H. Johnson of New Richmond, pleaded innocent Monday to three charges involving assaults on Eau Claire women and was held under $10,000 bond pending a Feb. 1 preliminary hearing.

Johnson, 29, was identified by two women who told authorities he assaulted them. Authorities named Johnson in warrants charging him with attempted rape, robbery and disorderly conduct.

Eau Claire police also said that Johnson will be charged with indecent assault at Minneapolis. He was arrested at Hudson last week for questioning about attacks on women in Minneapolis.

Four women from Eau Claire were attacked in the early morning hours of Dec. 19. Two women said their attacker came up from behind as they walked to work, threw them to the ground and grabbed their purses. Another woman said the man dragged her toward an empty house but ran when she screamed for help. A fourth woman said she was assaulted in the garage of her home as she parked her car.

Johnson told authorities he had not been in Eau Claire for months.

Search Two Planes For Hidden Bombs
Milwaukee —(U)— Capital Airlines searched a plane here and another at Lansing Monday after an anonymous telephone caller claimed a bomb would be put aboard. Authorities said the call was a hoax.

The planes, one from the east and the other from the west, were scheduled to arrive at Grand Rapids. The airline said the caller reported the bomb was aboard the plane from Milwaukee.

Missile Complacency Unfounded, Alsop Says

Gen. Powers' Statements Show Soviets

BY JOSEPH ALSOP
Washington — "With only some 300 ballistic missiles, the Soviets could virtually wipe out our entire nuclear strike capability within a span of 30 minutes. To and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs Gen. herent, sensible American program of long-range missile development before 1954.

Only in that year were practical recommendations for big missiles presented by the late Dr. John von Neumann, and thereafter proceeded by generations: the T-1, an improved V-2; the T-2, an IRBM; the T-3A and T-3B, which are the present Soviet ICBMs, and the new, longer range Soviet missile tested in the Pacific, which is the fourth generation.

If the United States had followed a similar development curve over a similar period of time, there can be no doubt we would have, not a mere 150 ICBMs operational, but 1,500 ICBMs if the requirement were that big. Hence the published facts are dead against Sec. Gates. The problem remains whether the un-

Straubel Field Improvement Hearing Feb. 4
Seek Authority For State, Federal Grants of $378,300
Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — A public hearing on the proposed 1960 Austin Straubel field improvements project of $378,300 will be held at 10 a.m. Feb. 4 at the Brown county courthouse by the Wisconsin aeronautics commission.
The hearing is a formality preceding authorization of state and federal funds for the project. Brown county's share will be $52,000.
Share Costs
The project would provide an estimated $214,400 for paved taxiways, $14,430 for taxiway lighting and $32,670 for high intensity lighting for the northeast-southwest runway lengthened to 5,200 feet in 1959. The long runway eventually will be equipped for instrument landings.
The federal aviation agency Nov. 13 announced the 1960 grant for Straubel field would be $193,407 and the sponsor's share, the amount furnished

Small Margin of Error
As survival quite literally depends on Sec. Gates' being right, it is important to know whether his confidence in the estimates is well-founded. The first thing to note is the extreme narrowness of the national estimates' margin of error, beyond which further error may mean national suicide.

According to Gen. Power, the Soviets could destroy our deterrent with 150 intercontinental missiles, for our nuclear launching sites in this hemisphere, plus another 150 intermediate range missiles, for our air and missile bases overseas. The national estimates themselves have long granted the Soviets an ample stock of IRBMs. Over 100 IRBM launching pads are known to exist in eastern Europe alone. Thus everything hangs upon the single question, whether the Soviets now have, or will soon have, only 150 operational intercontinental missiles.

The number is not large. It is, for example, only 10 months of the productive capacity of our own Atlas ICBM plant, if the Atlas production line were working on a 3-shift basis instead of a business-as-usual basis. It is also less than the number of operational ICBM we would now have in this country, if President Eisenhower had ordered an all-out missile effort after the warning of the first Sputnik.

Russia Ahead
Again, 150 ICBMs is only three-fifths of the rockets Nikita S. Khrushchev has said the Soviets produced last year in a single factory. From the context, he seemed to be talking about intercontinental rockets. He was hopefully interpreted here as talking only about IRBMs. At that, the interpretation is not overly comforting, for we have no factory today that is currently producing half Khrushchev's number of major rockets, even in the IRBM range.

Finally, most important of all, 150 ICBMs is, or at least ought to be, a much smaller number of operational missiles by Soviet standards than by American standards. This is because of the lamentable difference in the histories of the Soviet and American missile programs.

In brief, there was no co-

Final Plans for Edison Approved

Council Action Being Sought; Building Outline Unchanged

Final plans and specifications for the new $1,100,000 school. It will be brick with Edison school were approved by the school board Monday night and forwarded to the city council for approval.

Advertisements for bids will be published this week by Architect Raymond N. LeVe and Associates, with any changes after council approval being shown in addenda.

The board agreed to open bids at 7 p.m. March 8 in Morgan school auditorium. The council is expected to look over the plans at its next meeting, Feb. 3. Plans will be open for inspection in the clerk's office after today.

Substantially Unchanged
The plans remain unchanged since the board approved space allocation in December. The 600-student building will be U-shaped on the ground floor and square on the top floor, with 19 classrooms, an enclosed inner court with access to the playground to the south, a gymnasium, all-purpose room, crafts room, kitchen, and 3,000-square foot basement storage room, served by exterior ramp.

The building will replace the 80-year-old present school, which will be occupied while construction takes place. LeVe told the board construction could begin probably in late May, with occupancy expected for September, 1961.

The plans feature one alternate — roll-up gates closing off the interior court from the playground to prevent vandalism in the court.

The exterior will closely re-

Coffee Proceeds Wednesday Go to March of Dimes

Proceeds from coffee sold in Appleton Wednesday will go to the 1960 March of Dimes campaign, according to George Kubisiak, chairman of special events.

The special "Coffee Day" has been arranged by restaurant owners and March of Dimes officials to bolster fund-raising efforts in this year's drive against polio, arthritis and crippling birth defects.

Coffee will be donated by the restaurants and will cost the same amount as usual, but the money paid by customers will go to the March of Dimes.

The Outagamie county chapter of the National Foundation is currently $9,000 in debt and money being raised in this year's drive is being applied to local medical bills.

SCS to Have New Offices

Directors Seek to Serve Clients Better In Courthouse Space

Outagamie county's Soil Conservation Service begins its move to new quarters in the county courthouse Friday.

The conservation unit, under direction of Conservation Planner Vernon Geiger, will occupy offices adjacent to the agricultural extension office.

One of the aims of the move is to give better service to SCS patrons. Because of heavy summer work loads and many hours spent outside of the office, calls have gone unanswered. After Feb. 1, all incoming calls or visits made while planners are out will be handled through the extension office.

Skydomes, which provide interior hallway light, will be used on the second floor.

Sinks will be placed in every room, with the three kindergarten rooms having full toilet facilities.

Ceilings throughout will be of non-flammable acoustical tile. The plans will be submitted to the Fire Insurance Rating bureau and to the industrial commission for safety checking before bids are let.

High Cliff Park Association Picks 1960 Officers

James E. Bamberg, Kaukauna, was elected secretary of the High Cliff Forest Park association and Elmer H. Jennings, Appleton, a new director when the board met Monday afternoon.

Re-elected were Adam C. Remley, president; W. E. Schubert, vice president, and Harold C. Adams, treasurer. Jennings fills the unexpired term of the late Erik L. Madison, who had been secretary of the organization since its inception in 1953 and whom Bamberg succeeds in office.

Taycheedah Commitments Cut in Half

Population Now Below 100; Was 168 Last Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A sharp decline in the number of commitments to the state home for women at Taycheedah was disclosed today in the annual report of Supt. Marcia Simpson to the state board of public welfare.

Mrs. Simpson said delinquency commitments during the last year declined by half, and the population at the end of the year stood slightly below 100, the smallest figure in some years.

Two years ago the prison contained 168 inmates.

Asks More Funds
Mrs. Simpson renewed her request for building expansion and improvement money, repeating predictions that population changes and gains being recorded in the state make likely an eventual increase in prison population to about 210.

The institution is located on the south shore of Lake Winnebago, east of Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Simpson told the board the institution needs a new joint purpose building to consolidate all services into a single location and to permit the use of present buildings exclusively for housing.

She repeated there should be a chapel on the grounds. Existing facilities are too small for the size of the institution, she said.

The board also was told of the eventual need for two 25-

UCS to Honor 22 Leading Groups

Twenty-two Appleton businesses and organizations will be honored for outstanding contributions to the United Community services at noon award luncheon at the Elks club Thursday.

The organizations had at least 88 per cent participation in the campaign and averaged at least $18.61 per employee.

Awards will be presented by Bruce Purdy, chairman of the board, and Stuart Koch, campaign fund chairman. "We would like to find out how these groups promoted such participation and see if it is possible to extend the method into other organizations," Koch said.

Alice in Dairyland Heads Seal Campaign

Merrie Jewel Barney, this year's Alice in Dairyland, will head the 1960 Easter Seal campaign in Wisconsin.

Barney is an honorary state chairman, according to Mrs. H. W. Miller, 1116 N. Lehigh street, president of the Wisconsin Easter Seal Miss Barney society.

During the campaign, March 17 to April 17, "Alice" will ask state residents to support a program for crippled children and adults by contributing to Easter Seals.

Following her reign, Miss Barney will begin training in medical technology at the University of Wisconsin.

Fear Result Of Man's First Disobedience

Sin Made Him Aware Of Grief, Turmoil, Rev. Humbert Says

The first act of disobedience, Adam and Eve partaking of the forbidden fruit, and the results of the act were explained by the Rev. Harold P. Humbert, pastor of First Baptist church, in his sermon Sunday.

The act had an internal effect on their souls as well as an external change in their relationship to God, he said.

"The immediate result, according to Genesis, was an opening of their eyes. They were aware of their need of clothing, they were exposed to each other. Their eyes opened to them the meaning of guilt and shame." Inwardly their attitude had changed and their outlook on life had a different flavor, the Rev. Mr. Humbert said.

Awakened to Sorrow
Satan had promised to open their eyes if they ate of the fruit, but instead of finding something that would add zest and delight to life, their open eyes only beheld a sense of guilt and shame, he said.

They discovered a new world of inner turmoil and sorrow. Man lost his fellowship with God and discovered a new emotion — fear.

"Sin destroys the ability of man to have clear thinking," he said. "It is the folly of sinners to think that it is either possible or desirable to hide from God. It is a blind alley and leads to only despair and misery."

The pastor said God searched for Adam in the garden not to kill him, but to restate him, heal him and redeem him.

Man Hides Today
Today people hide from God in a complex society. In a forest of excuses they hope they can avoid God and not give an account of their stewardship of life. They stay away from church to avoid hearing about their sins, he said.

"No doubt a major portion of the torment of eternal punishment of hell will be the inner burning of a guilty soul. The longer we hide from God the less likelihood we will ever find healing for the inner spirit."

Since man cannot conceal sin or shift the blame, the only real solution is to confess it to God, the Rev. Mr. Humbert said.

Other types of minor ailments which should be treated by a doctor are:

—Puncture wounds from nails, glass, light bulbs, and thorns.

—Chemical burns.

—All animal and human bites.

—Persistent bleeding from any injury.

—Redness, burning sensation, or itching that indicates infection.

Southside Enrollments To Jump 300

Elementary school enrollments south of the Fox River will be 300 greater in September, 1964, than in September, 1960, Supt. John P. Mann predicted Monday.

A report from the three elementary principals in that area indicated 1,068 students will be enrolled in grades kindergarten through Intermediate III next fall, while 1,396 will enroll in the fall of 1964.

Non-Parochial
The figures do not include projected parochial enrollments except in kindergarten and Primary I. Those grades are not taught in the Sacred Heart school. Primary I enrollments are expected to jump from 275 to 350; Primary II from 112 to 157; Primary III from 111 to 170; Intermediate I from 112 to 150; Intermediate II from 93 to 140, and Intermediate III from 84 to 112.

The figures are minimal, Mann said, because they do not consider immigration or possible building on the south side because of the new College avenue bridge.

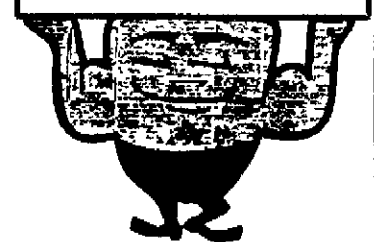

If enrollments grow as predicted, the southside will need 11 more teachers and classrooms by 1964, Mann said.

Waupaca — Henry Stenson, 26, Oshkosh, was fined $50 for failure to transfer title and $25 for driving an unregistered vehicle when he appeared before Justice George Whalen Monday.

Teachers' Salaries Will be Set Feb. 3

Teachers' salary schedules for 1960-61 will be set by the board of education at a special meeting Feb. 3. The education committee will meet before then to make recommendations.

Supt. John P. Mann said Monday night he believed the beginning salary should be $4,350 with a bachelor's degree, compared to $4,100 now. Manitowish already has established $4,350 as its beginners' salary rate, and Sheboygan will pay $4,400, he said.

Have We New Weapon for War on Crime?

The items in the Bill of Rights in the United States Constitution were put there by men who feared persecution by an autocratic government. The Bill of Rights was drafted by men who had learned this fear under a monarchy and who were trying to apply it to a democratic government which they knew might some day become dictatorial.

In practice the Bill of Rights protects all alike and has frequently been used to advantage by those who operate outside the law. The Capone dynasty in Chicago made such good use of the protective provisions in the Constitution that the government found itself helpless to convict any of the many known criminals then operating in Chicago. Finally Al Capone was convicted for violations of the income tax law. This fact often has been pointed to as indicating how helpless the government is against organized crime.

Today there is operating in the United States a criminal syndicate known as the Mafia which is more powerful and better organized than anything Capone ever dreamed of. This powerful syndicate has divided up the United States into districts which are reserved for members and under this organization they carry on a continual criminal attack upon the legitimate business of the nation. The members are not only sworn to secrecy but requirement of absolute secrecy is enforced by killers and torturers who make it very difficult for the government to get any information whatsoever about its operations.

In this situation the justice department used the law against conspiracy to bring about the conviction of 20 alleged members of the Mafia. The alleged conspirators were among 63 persons taken by New York state police in a raid on the home of Joseph Barbara, Sr., a beer and soft drink distributor. The raid took place on Nov. 14, 1957, and Barbara died of a heart attack the following June. The trial has been called an attempt to use anti-trust laws against crime syndicates. The prosecution was conducted by Milton Ralph Wessel, special assistant to the attorney general of the United States, who had some experience in anti-trust law work and is credited with having proposed the use of anti-trust laws in this instance.

Those convicted have been sentenced to prison terms ranging up to five years and some of them drew fines up to $10,000. Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman who described the records of these men as a "tale of horrors" released them all on bond totaling $765,000 pending appeals. That there will be appeals appears certain.

In the meantime, endless discussion is going on over the new tool the department of justice has brought out against criminal syndicates. The government has used such terms as "a landmark in the fight against organized crime" to describe the success in this case. However, the American Civil Liberties Union is by no means satisfied with that description. It says that the trial has raised many questions and that it will consider supporting an appeal.

The Civil Liberties Union is not alone in its worry over this means of getting convictions and punishment for criminals. It is another case similar to the Al Capone instance in which those convicted are known criminals, many of them with police records but who, because of their close organization and murderous enforcement of their own rule, cannot be convicted of the actual crime which makes them objectionable. In this instance they are convicted of a conspiracy to obstruct justice by lying about the purpose for which the convention of criminals at Appalchin was held in the fall of 1957.

The appeal, if taken, will put upon the court the task of deciding whether the conviction of these known criminals is in fact a means of protecting the nation against criminals or whether it endangers the rights guaranteed to the people of the United States. There is no doubt whatever that there is great need of a law or a method of using the present law to protect the people of the United States from the criminals now preying upon them. But it must be such a law or such a method that will leave undisturbed the procedures set up in the Bill of Rights to protect Americans against autocratic government.

Union Bargaining at Menominee

A local of the United Auto Workers at the Lloyd Manufacturing company, Menominee, Mich., has demonstrated that a union can bargain for lower wages as well as for higher wages if it is in the interest of its members to do so.

A joint statement by management and labor at the Lloyd plant recently announced that an agreement had been reached to reduce wages 10 per cent beginning Feb. 1. The proposal was accepted by labor by a vote of 228 to 204. The statement said that "the vote by the union membership is indicative of mutual understanding between labor and management at a time when the utmost cooperation is vital to all concerned."

Several members of the union talking to newspaper men said the same thing in these words, "We want to keep our jobs."

These employees indicated that in the background of their decision was the knowledge that the Plankinton Meat Packing plant in Menominee had announced that it would close soon as a part of its consolidation program. About 60 workers would be affected there. Last year the Marinette Knitting Mill shut down but since has been reorganized and will reopen soon. Furthermore, the average wage at the Lloyd plant has been $1.99 an hour which management says is about 25 cents above the national average.

Quite obviously the members of the unions had two things in mind that might cost them their jobs. First, the present wage level endangered the financial stability of the plant and thus might cause it to close. Second, with other plants closing or reducing their forces in the vicinity there would be increasing competition for their jobs. A majority of the employees decided it would be to their advantage to accept a 10 per cent cut and they so voted.

The action of the Menominee local is worthy of note because it is unusual. The industrial scene of America is strewn with the wreckage of both plants and unions caused by the failure of union and management to come to an understanding of a mutual problem. The discouraging thing about such failures is that most of them are due to a lack of trust in each other. This was not the case in Menominee.

Wonderful Creature, the Porpoise

Objects traveling through the water are slowed down by a "boundary layer" turbulence which commences at the front end and increases as it goes backward along the object. The greater the turbulence, the heavier the drag and more force is needed to keep up the object's speed. Now a former German missile scientist has applied a principle found in porpoises to overcome this drag.

Dr. Max Kramer first realized that the porpoises had something when he watched a school of them easily pass up the ship which was bringing him to the United States. Dr. Kramer had worked to solve the problem of boundary layer turbulence for years without success. He could tell by the relatively small ripples of eddies around the porpoises that they created much less turbulence than they should have for their size and shape.

Subsequent studies revealed that each porpoise has a sixteenth of an inch of elastic, ducted, hydraulic skin which gives in to the eddies and absorbs or quashes most of them. Applying the same principle to manufactured items, Dr. Kramer, along with scientists of the United States Rubber company, invented a smooth layer of rubber stretched over a layer of tiny rubber pillars which also would bend to the eddies. This skin was put over a streamlined model ship which was pulled through the water at 40 miles an hour. The new coating reduced drag by as much as 50 per cent.

Dr. Kramer says the coating won't work on large ships which make their own waves so great that the boundary layer turbulence is incidental. But the artificial skin will be tried on submarines, missiles, torpedoes and small craft.

And who taught the porpoise about turbulence, elasticity and drag?

Crisis in Integration Over; Hard-Core Resistance Stays

From The Detroit News

The crisis in the Negro's struggle for racial integration of America's schools is over and mass resistance has ended — in the opinion of the man best qualified to know.

The encouraging and rather surprising statement came from Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. As an attorney he is responsible for a series of stunning legal victories for the Negro, including the key decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on integration in education.

Much legal maneuvering will still go on in the hard-core states of the deep south, but other southern states are yielding in token compliance to the law of the land. In Marshall's opinion, the job of the Negro and the NAACP is to outmaneuver the bitter-end maneuverers.

Marshall gives credit to the activities of "good white people" in the south who are organizing to battle the fanatics who would rather close the schools than see them integrated. The moderates, even though they may not be enthusiastic integrationists, want their children educated in the public schools. Their voices have been drowned out by the Faubus-like types, but now, Marshall notes, they are being heard more and more.

All of this is wonderful news for a nation that suffered the international shame of the Little Rock affair. Rationality and common sense have come to the aid of integration and, although the goal is not yet reached, at least it is in sight.

World's Most Pressing Problem Is Food; America Has Plenty

From The St. Petersburg (Fla.) Independent

We hear a lot these days about the "battle for men's minds" in the cold war struggle between the forces of the west and the forces of communism.

President Eisenhower's visit to other nations is an important factor in that struggle. This long and tiring trip by our not-so-young President is of course of great value in our efforts to win the understanding and support of the so-called "uncommitted peoples," as well as to hold those who are on our side.

The world is full of problems. Many of them are new and complicated. But to much of the world the most pressing problem is as old as man and as vital today as it has ever been in the history of the human race.

That simple problem is food. Much of the world is hungry. It is difficult to talk to people about freedom and democracy, or even religion, when the pangs of hunger are gnawing at their stomachs.

The problem of hunger is becoming more acute in this modern day, for the hungry peoples of the world now know that some people do have plenty — and some have more than they know what to do with.

While most of the world's billions of people have a problem of what to do for food, America's millions have a problem of what to do with food.

It would seem that some method could be worked out to put these two opposite problems together and come up with some sort of answer to both. Of course the solution is not a simple one, at least not as simple as it sounds, but it is of great importance that we arrive at something approaching a solution.

We are not likely to create much love and affection among the hungry peoples of the world as long as they know we are spending billions to discourage food production and additional billions to store the surpluses. There may be all kinds of economic reasons why this situation continues, but certainly none of these reasons would be very understandable to a hungry mother with emaciated children.

It would make a lot more sense to a hungry world if America spent some billions to encourage food production and through some help-the-

Business Service To Community Very Important

From The Decatur (Iowa) Journal

We know of towns in which businessmen still consider it a waste of time to take part in community activities. In such communities there are die-hard fellows who scoff at the idea of contributing time and energy to civic betterment, to fund-raising campaigns.

"I've got a business to take care of," such self-centered citizens usually reason. "I can't spend all my time helping around town," they lament, "doing something for nothing."

How wrong they are. What pays bigger dividends than community service? Isn't that why they are in business?

Every businessman benefits from the community enterprises of his town.

Ladies Relief Society Aids Needy

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 29, 1881.

The Crescent learns that the Ladies Relief Society in a quiet and unostentatious way is furnishing clothing to many a family suffering in our midst.

This paper also has repeatedly heard of kindly gifts of clothing to the destitute by Gabe Ullman, of shoes to those almost barefooted by N. B. Clark, and of meat to the hungry by Fred Peterson.

This has been a terribly severe winter and sickness has brought want to many homes which otherwise would have been comfortably provided for by the industry of their occupants.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

He shoots quail in Georgia. This nails the Democratic charge that he's always running off to Georgia to play golf.

Asian flu is back again—better known as chow mein hay fever.

Jack Kennedy has found his ideal running-mate: a farmer from Kansas named Martin Luther.

The Eisenhower team boasts that employment is up. Republicans make the mistake of thinking people like to work, whereas Democrats promise a kind of on-the-job retirement.

Q—How did we allow the missile gap to develop? A—It wasn't our fault. Russia quit stealing our secrets.

One candidate is quite frank about aspiring to the white House. He's sick of fighting his way back and fourth to work in Washington traffic.

Republicans are worried about Dick Nixon's ability to measure up to Eisenhower. Nixon can stand the work all right—but can he survive the vacations?

Under the Capitol Dome

Numerous Signs of Vitality in State GOP

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — It may be supposed that one of the measures of a vitality of a political party is the competition it exhibits for its major nominations.

By that test it soon may be shown that there still is life in the old Wisconsin Republican party for there is every sign there may be a vigorous contest for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

As this is written Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells is ostensibly canvassing his prospects as a candidate against Philip Kuehn, the Milwaukee aspirant who already has announced, with abundant indications that Olson already has privately made a decision.

In Milwaukee, moreover, there is another young businessman, Ray H. Dittmore, who has been making noises for a couple of months that sound like the rumblings of a candidate to the initiated, and who doubtless will make it official soon.

NOVELTY

A contest for the top nomination on the Republican ticket would be something of a novelty. Only once since 1846, when the late, aged Walter S. Goodland found two challengers, has there been a serious nomination fight.

After Oscar Rennebohm inherited the governorship he won an uncontested nomination in 1948. In 1950 Walter J. Kohler was challenged by Harvey Higley, among others, but they retreated after Kohler won the endorsement of the Republican state convention. He won two later nominations without challenges and in 1956 Vernon W. Thomson, after waiting patiently in the wings, got a nomination almost by acclamation.

The fact that Kuehn and Olson, relatively unknown by the voters at large and by the county and precinct politicians, should be anxious to wade into the field this year shows that the more "available" men don't intend to run.

It may be presumed that if former Gov. Thomson wanted another nomination many loyalists would find him hard to deny. Paul Rogan or Warren Knowles or Glenn R. Davis would doubtless have stronger claims upon a nomination of their party than would either Kuehn or Olson.

But it has become perfectly plain that they won't run, for one reason and another, and thus the field is open to newcomers.

The capacity to produce plausible or reasonably apt candidates is one of the tests of the health and vigor of a political party. Perhaps there is nothing that would be such a tonic to the spirit and the energy of the party organization this year, moreover, than a stout fight between two energetic and able and attractive young men for this chief prize of state politics.

NEEDED

The Wisconsin GOP's spirit has infinitely improved since the bleak weeks following the elections of November, 1958.

A part of the reason undoubtedly lies in the signs that the prospective national GOP ticket will be favored in Wisconsin over any Democratic national ticket that now appears likely. A part of it lies in the realization that the party must eschew factionalism in its campaign against the first incumbent Democratic regime in the experience of many of its active adherents. A part of it lies in the growing confidence of the partisans that the Republican legislature has built a timely issue in the struggle with the Democrats at the capitol.

Yet there remains a considerable inertia. The party machine has not actually been inspired to maximum effort in a long time.

A good contest would provide an incentive to early activity useful in mounting the general election drive later, and most of all, suggest persuasively to the rank and filer that the party is yet alive and kicking.

Assistant President Not Needed

From The New Orleans Times-Picayune

President Eisenhower's intention to ask for a "principal assistant," or "first secretary of the executive department," is disappointing only in that it tends to freeze, rather than improve upon, the now illogical status of the vice presidency.

Someone should come up with legislation that would confer on the vice president sufficient duties and compensation to make the office something more than a mere morbid shadow — and, incidentally, something not to be spurned by a Rockefeller, Kennedy or who-have-you, but one desirable and challenging in itself.

Any vice president could, we suppose, under a constitution that gives him little to do, declare his prerogative of doing just that, and refuse to abide by the legislation. The latter, for such an unlikely contingency, might provide in lieu for the "assistant president" Mr. Eisenhower has in mind.

The Eisenhower-Nixon administration has been remarkable for active, voluntary, mutually agreeable, informal work on the part of the vice president. Something could be worked out to capitalize on the best elements of that experience and relationship.

Nixon's Role in Settling Dispute Confuses Democrats

From The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin

Mr. Nixon's role in the settlement of the steel strike has the Democrats riding off in all directions, looking for the right rock to throw. Until they see how the thing turns out, it's hard to tell whether to pin the blame on him for an inflationary calamity, or to deny he had anything to do with a forward-looking advance in good labor relations.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"Suppose I'm in some foreign country and get caught in one of those population explosions! . . . Don't I need some sort of 'shot' for that?"

MacArthur party until the Flying Fortresses from Australia could run through 1,500 miles of hostile air and pick them up.

That night I felt I had to get away from everyone; here a man could be by himself, couldn't he? But the night sentry ring around Del Monte was now doubled against infiltration. I put it on the line with a lanky Texan armed with a Springfield. He let me through on the promise I would not go far nor stay long.

Stayed Hidden

The next day the PTs came. But at the compound not a sign betrayed the presence of the newcomers; the Japanese would have ripped the whole island had they been given the slightest cause to suspect. To the restless MacArthur, restriction of any kind was intolerable. But compromise of his party's safety was unthinkable. All that day he remained severely under cover. But night brought wide cover — darkness.

In another part of the compound I prepared to repeat my nocturnal excursion into solitude. I checked the cylinder of the hand-gun in my holster. It was a long-barrel revolver that had been ideal for sniping on Bataan, a deadly accurate weapon.

The rich Cagayan country was a vast shadow under the fling of bright, clean stars. There was no moon but the night had a suffused luminosity.

Then I heard something.

Ready to Shoot

The habits of war were adamant, the animal reactions instantaneous. Already I was in the ditch beside the road, gun out.

The sound could have come from the crunch of a boot on the gravel road. I dropped over until my cheek was against the ground. It was warm and dry. In that position man-size objects would appear in relief against the night sky. Japanese troops on Bataan wore battle dress with green, net-covered helmets. But in rear areas they often substituted a soft field cap raised along the midseam. What I promptly saw against the stars was a shape that could have been a man wearing a cap that could have been raised along the midseam.

A Filipino would have a straw hat, or none at all. No American was supposed to be abroad outside the sentry ring. A Japanese, then...

Woman's Voice

Inches at a time I got the gun in position under my left armpit to cock it without making a noise. I was betting against the shape's decision to move before I could crook my left arm for a rest and take him under aim. He was stock still. That meant he had heard me the same moment I had heard him. Slowly the sights came into position. The crown of that headgear was like a bull's-eye exactly topping the front sight. In turn, the front sight exactly bisected the V of the rear sight.

I could not miss. I began the trigger squeeze.

I think I sensed rather than saw the second figure, and I refocused my eyes. This one was considerably shorter and the head was indistinct. Of course they would work in pairs! There might be others. My shot would bring a hail of sentry bullets too. Maybe I should try to take them prisoners?

Then, subdued but clear at that distance in the quiet night came a woman's voice.

"I don't hear it now." I recognized Mrs. MacArthur! I used to chat with her on the way to church occasionally in Manila before the war and had visited with her briefly on Corregidor a month before. The strength drained out of me. I was afraid sheer reaction would cause me to fire that gun.

"It's Ind, general," I managed to say.

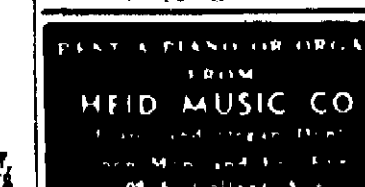

His voice was firm and crisp as usual: "Where are you, Ind?"

"In the plantation, sir. I mistook you for a Japanese infiltration party and I almost shot your ears off."

Mrs. MacArthur gasped. He chuckled. "Well, you better get up here and we'll decide who's going to escort whom back to the compound."

I am not sure what I said because I was too preoccupied with the recollection of the time I had spent fling the trigger of that gun down to a hair release.

Col. Allison Ind poses in Baltimore holding the pistol with which he says he almost shot Gen. Douglas MacArthur after the latter's escape from Bataan in World War II. On the wall is a picture of MacArthur who celebrated his 80th birthday today.

'I Almost Shot MacArthur'

Aide Took General for Jap In Darkness During Flight

BY COL. ALLISON IND
Written for the Associated Press

Gen. Douglas MacArthur is 80 years old today. Except for a split-second, wholly unmilitary intervention one dark night in the Philippines, he almost certainly would have died shortly after his sixty-second birthday.

And I, aide to his air force chief, would have been his unwitting executioner.

Very few Americans, and we devoutly hoped no Japanese, knew the general and his party were on the southernmost island of Mindanao that night. President Roosevelt's radio order that reached him in the rock heart of Corregidor's Mahanta tunnel was most secret. It directed him to take key staff officers and break out of Bataan and Corregidor before the implacable ring drew hopelessly tight.

How he was going to nego-

• The author of The Status Seekers finds that more and more Americans are narrowing their lives... missing much of life's richness and fun... by knowing only people like themselves. In February Reader's Digest he suggests tested ways to make new friends, broaden your world—get more fun out of life!

one knew what he wouldn't say and tried not to think about: time was running out for Bataan and Corregidor. That's why orders naming me one of five to try to fly south to Mindanao the night of March 10-11 came like a last-hour reprieve from the governor.

Somehow we made it and on the 12th were searching for Gen. Sharp's underground headquarters. We wouldn't have found it without help—a beautiful blend with the pineapple plantation, the orderly rows interrupted over the buried nerve center of American resistance in the south. There we learned Gen. MacArthur and party had already left Corregidor in PT boats.

Compared with what we had been experiencing, Mindanao was a lush wonderland. The Japanese? Yes, they were in Mindanao. But mostly they were some miles to the south-east—not like the snipers on Bataan, looking down your throat from treetop concealments. The Del Monte plantation compound quietly got ready to receive and hide the

He was to reorganize in Australia and when America and her allies could spare the men, ships, planes and guns to do it with, he would fight his way back. Aside from the military need to keep the encircling enemy in ignorance, there was the morale of those who would have to stay behind. They formed the only barrier to the Japanese roll-up of Southeast Asia and much of the Pacific; the tight, bitter resistance from the foxholes leached into the flank of the rugged peninsula and the belching guns on the rock at the entrance to Manila bay had already upset Tokyo's whole operations timetable.

Jensen Has Decided To Quit Baseball

Doesn't Like Separation From Family

Boston —(U)— The Boston Red Sox announced today that outfielder Jackie Jensen has decided to retire from baseball.

A Red Sox spokesman said Jensen gave the word to General Manager "Bucky" Harris Monday. Jensen, the American league's most valuable player in 1958, did not amplify his decision, the spokesman said. However, before the close of last season Jensen said he was considering quitting and would think it over during the winter.

Fine Contract "He was sent a very fine contract but that made no difference apparently," said the Sox spokesman. The Red Sox do not disclose contract figures. Jensen has said it was disagreeable for him to be separated from his wife and three children. Their home is in Nevada. Jackie is married to Zoe Ann Olson, former Olympic diving champion. Their third child was born last year and his wife was unable to join him in Boston.

Six Years Jensen has been with the Red Sox for six years. The Sox got him from the Washington Senators in a trade at the start of the 1954 season.

A great football player at the University of California, Jensen went into baseball with Oakland of the Pacific Coast league in 1949. He was brought up to the majors by the New York Yankees in 1950. He was

American Grid League To Pick 8th Member During 3-Day Meeting

Oakland, Atlanta, Miami Contenders for Franchise; Plan to Elect Officers Today

BY IRWIN FRANK

Dallas, Tex. —(U)— The American Football league opened a 3-day meeting today to pick its eighth member and get the fledgling pro loop squared away for its fall kickoff.

Atlanta, Ga., Oakland, Calif., and Miami, Fla., are the three contenders for the remaining franchise.

Unitas Says AFL Will Be a Success

Philadelphia —(U)— Johnny Unitas, who has quarterbacked the Baltimore Colts to two straight National Football league titles, says the American Football league will be a success.

"They'll all get a chance now," Unitas said in an interview Monday night. "The more teams the better. The competition is good for our league. I don't think the new league will hurt us as much as everyone says."

The 4-year NFL veteran was here to receive the Philadelphia sports writers' award as America's outstanding athlete.

Awarded Hickok Belt

TV Bout Gives Ingemar Uрге to Fight Again

Rochester, N. Y. —(U)— Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson is getting the urge to fight again.

"I got the feeling when I watched the Robinson-Pender fight on television Friday," said the handsome Swede shortly before he was presented with the $10,000 S. Rae Hickok belt Monday night. Ingemar said he will start sharpening up with an exhibition tour here in late February or early March for a fight he hopes will come off in June.

Tops Unitas, Sherry Johansson received the 4-pound gold and jeweled belt for being chosen "professional athlete of the year" in a poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

The undefeated 27-year-old boxer won by a substantial margin over quarterback Johnny Unitas of the pro football champion Baltimore Colts, and Larry Sherry, World Series pitching star of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Johansson was selected first on 50 of the 112 ballots and collected 228 points.

The fighter said he will go to Milwaukee to receive the Associated Press "male athlete of the year" award Friday and leave for Switzerland Sunday. He expects to return in three weeks for a television show, then start an exhibition tour.

Commissioner Joe Foss thinks Oakland or Atlanta may be most likely to win the franchise. A decision by the seven franchise holders will be made soon.

Minneapolis-St. Paul interests recently dropped their franchise in the face of National Football league expansion into that area. The NFL is meeting now in Miami and has not yet announced any expansion plans.

The AFL delayed its meeting a week hoping the NFL would announce its plans. Foss said "We can't sit around and wait on them."

Elect Officers At today's meeting the AFL will elect officers, hear a report by Bob Dedman, AFL attorney who has been in Miami for the NFL meeting, and listen to the Atlanta and Oakland delegations as well as a report by Foss.

It will also discuss drafting of players, a 1960 schedule, possible agreements with the NFL and the Canadian Football league, rules of play and, finally, the type of football to be used by the league.

Foss said his office will handle all television business for the eight teams.

League rules state that "all television will be handled on a cooperative basis and that all TV income from television shall be paid directly to the league rather than to individual clubs."

Foss said that at the end of each year such money would be divided equally among the teams.

Tim Brown, Dick Christy Sign With Eagles

Philadelphia —(U)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football league announced Monday the signing of half-backs Dick Christy and Tim Brown. Both were picked up as free agents.

Christy, from Chester, Pa., originally was drafted by the Green Bay Packers. But before the 1959 season started he was traded to Pittsburgh. He was released by the Steelers last September.

Brown played one game with the Packers last season before being released.

'Red' Returns Home Without Signing Pact

Torre Still Only Braves' Regular To Agree to Terms

Milwaukee —(U)— Milwaukee Braves second baseman "Red" Schoendienst left town Monday without signing a contract for the 1960 season.

Schoendienst, who said he would return to his St. Louis home, met with John McHale, the general manager, in an attempt to come to terms.

"We may have to meet a couple of more times before we reach an agreement," Schoendienst said, "but I don't think there's anything unusual about that."

Schoendienst returned unsigned the first contract he received for the 1960 season. He did not say how much of a salary cut McHale asked him to take for 1960 but indications were last season that he was cut 25 per cent because of the small amount of time he spent with the team.

It wasn't until late in the 1959 season that Schoendienst was able to return to the squad after a bout with tuberculosis. He says he presently is in top physical shape and able to play more than 100 games.

"I'm still a better risk than any bonus baby the team can come up with right now," Schoendienst said.

McHale reported that only one regular has signed his contract for the 1960 season. Frank Torre, first baseman, returned his contract several days ago. The Braves trail all major league teams in the number of players signed to date.

Eddie Mathews, voted the team's most valuable player at the annual Diamond dinner of the Milwaukee chapter of the Baseball Writers association of America Sunday night, also returned his contract unsigned.

Shortstop Johnny Logan also balked at sending in his contract until he has further talks with McHale.

home this season when the Gophers shocked Iowa, 87-72, Monday night.

Hitting on a record-breaking 72 per cent of their shots, the Gophers turned the game into a rout after taking a 49-32 halftime lead. The victory hoisted Minnesota into second place with a 4-2 record.

Iowa dropped to sixth with a 4-3 mark and now also trails Ohio State (4-0) and Illinois, Michigan State and Northwestern who are all tied for third with 3-2 records.

47 Shots Minnesota attempted only 47 shots from the field but hit on 34 to establish a Big Ten record. The previous mark of 63 per cent was set by Indiana against Ohio State Feb. 2, 1959.

Ron Johnson, Minnesota's leading point-maker, was held scoreless in the first half but finished with 13 points. Ray Cronk, a sophomore, topped the Gophers with 21.

Reserve Mike Dull led Iowa with 16 while sophomore star Don Nelson was held to six points.

Disappearance of NFL Notes More Exciting Than Parley

leftovers: The National Football league meeting was the most frustrating experience we've had in 22 years of newspaper reporting. We found it necessary to write the same story five times, with offensive and defensive variations, of course. And at those prices yet!

Many writers and some club representatives pulled out Monday, leaving a skeleton crew in the meeting room and the press "box". One scribe pointed out: "Aside from the patio, there's nothing concrete."

Notes Stolen

A pad containing the meeting notes of Joe Labrum, NFL publicity chief and assistant to the commissioner, was stolen during or after a press conference held in the meeting room Wednesday night.

It was assumed by league officials that it was swiped by a news-nosey scribe, but the league was reminded that several members of the rival AFL were on the premises. Labrum made a special appearance in the press room for the return of the notes. That night somebody slipped the notes under the door of Labrum's room.

Some wag suggested that the league had noticed finger-prints on the note pad and scribe pointed out: "Aside from the patio, there's nothing concrete."

Anyhow, the grid scribes are mild compared to a writer at a recent major league baseball meeting. He had the NFL publicity chief and assistant to the commissioner in advance and later came out with the works.

'Quiet' Halas May Yet Have Last Word at Meeting

Bears' Owner Spends 2½ Hours Huddling With Leahy Group

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN

Miami Beach, Fla. —(U)— The quiet man at the stormy National Football league meeting may yet have the last word.

Hopelessly snarled in an effort to elect a successor to the late Bert Bell as commissioner, the owners turned to the man who probably knows more about professional football than any one alive.

They decided to try to take the handcuffs off George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears and a pioneer of the game. Halas has been unable to speak his mind on the commissioner for fear he'll lose support on expansion if he takes sides.

Abstains 21 Times Through 22 rounds of balloting since the voting started last Wednesday, Halas abstained 21 times. The one time he voted was for Paul Schiller, special events director of the Los Angeles Times.

Monday, with the vote stalemated at seven for Marshall Leahy of San Francisco and four for Acting Commissioner Austin H. Gunsel, Leahy's supporters asked Halas to attend their caucus and explain his position.

Apparently, Los Angeles, Cleveland, San Francisco, Detroit, Green Bay, New York and the Chicago Cardinals weren't aware Halas was concerned they wouldn't live up to their promise in Philadelphia last October to admit Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas to the league this year. The "solid seven," as the Leahy group has become known, deny a report they asked Halas to join their group and try to coax two of the opposition to swing to their camp. They deny also that in return they promised a solid block for expansion. Halas also says such things weren't suggested.

However, it seemed strange they spent 2½ hours behind closed doors just to pass the time of day.

Halas says he told the seven he wasn't as concerned about a commissioner as he was about expansion.

"Expansion is more important to the league than a commissioner who might serve one, two or five years," Halas says he told the Leahy people.

FVL Avenges Cage Loss To Freedom

Bartmann Shows Way With 17 Points In Second Half

The Fox Valley Lutheran High school basketball team defeated Freedom, 50-40, here Monday night to avenge an earlier loss, 60-54.

Freedom led, 15-15, at halftime, but the Foxes—led by Roger Bartmann—rallied in the second half to score their sixth win in 14 games. Bartmann, the game's top scorer, tallied all of his 17 points in the second half.

Wide Gap Freedom took the lead to stay early in the second half. The Irish closed to within one point later in the third period, but the hosts began widening the gap. With 2:30 left to play, FVL led by 14 points.

The Fox Lutheran dominated the boards—officially, 44 rebounds to 25—with Darrell Mindel showing the way with 17 grabs.

Freedom had a big edge in free throwing, sinking 16 of 25. FVL made only four of 15.

Freedom's top scorer was Wayne Krueger, with 13 points.

Dennis Dobberstein was FVL's runnerup, with 14 points—10 of them in the second half.

Corcoran of U. S. Giant Slalom Event Champion

Davos, Switzerland —U.S. chances in the Winter Olympic ski competition next month took on a rosier complexion today after the performances of some of the teams in the Coppa Grishcha giant slalom races.

Even before the competition here, the women were given a better than fair chance of carrying U.S. hopes to the top at Squaw Valley, Calif., beginning Feb. 18. And this has not changed.

But after the performance of Tom Corcoran of Hanover, N.H., in winning the men's giant slalom Monday in 2:31 and the continued improvement of other members of the men's team, there also has to be a readjustment of the latter's chances.

The other two top members of the U.S. team turned in fine performances. Max Marolt finished fifth in 2:34.3 and Dave Gorsuch was sixteenth in 2:47.9.

Kaukauna Athletic Club Plays Milwaukee A-B '5' Thursday

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Athletic club cagers will use a lineup of players 6-7 or taller. Average height for the 12-man squad is 6-4 including two players 5-10.

The Athletic club teams includes many members of the high school faculty who have played college ball together with outstanding players from neighboring communities such as Kimberly and Little Chute.

Coach Bob Main of Kaukauna has a few tall players but has lined up some top athletes to permit free substitution and a fast brand of ball to offset any height advantage of the other team.

Beloit Bowler Posts Four Straight Games Of 200 in Series

Beloit—Earl Ramquist, 49-year-old Beloit bowler, laid claim Monday to bowling's first quadruplicate here—four identical games of 200 in the same series.

Ramquist achieved the freak record in the Scratch Doubles league at the Beloit Bowl-Aire lanes.

Triplicates—three identical games—are rare enough, but bowlers hereabouts say they have never heard of four in a row. The American Bowling Congress keeps track of triplicates in sanctioned play but has nothing on quadruplicates.

Williams May be Best Paid Pinch-Hitter Ever

How Much He Plays Depends on Ted, Spring Training

Boston —Will the 1960 chapter of the Ted Williams story be entitled pinchhitter? Spot player? Regular?

Williams and spring training will provide the answers.

If the 41-year-old slugger is mostly a pinchhitter, he'll be the highest paid on record in that category after signing a contract Monday at the same figure as '59.

After a brief, secret early morning session with General Manager "Bucky" Harris, the colorful Williams agreed to his twenty-first Red Sox campaign.

Ted recently testified under oath that his 1959 baseball earnings amounted to $60,000 but it never was clarified whether that figure meant gross or net income.

A painful neck ailment was the main reason Williams' batting average fell from .328 to .254 last season.

Bearcats, Bradley Remain 1-2 College Teams

By The Associated Press

The lack of action on college basketball courts last week was reflected in the balloting today as the list of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press poll remained unchanged.

The sports writers and broadcasters again picked Cincinnati as the No. 1 team — overwhelmingly on the basis of first-place votes — but made the Bearcats' only conqueror, Bradley, a close second in the point totals. About the only differences noted among the top ten were minor changes in the point totals.

Group Asks Ban on Netting Program

Winnebago Sportsmen Threaten Campaign Against Commission

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Irate Lake Winnebago area sportsmen Monday notified Gov. Gaylord Nelson that they intend to start a campaign for the abolition of the state conservation commission unless the state's "rough fish" netting program in the big lake is halted forthwith.

Officers and members of a Citizens Conservation Committee representing the region called at the executive office to lay their complaints about the commission before William Fairfield, in the absence of Nelson who was in Washington. The governor's aide said he would relay the protests to the governor and check the problem with officials of the conservation department.

Present Petitions
The delegation also deposited with Fairfield a bundle of petitions which they claimed contained the names of more than 5,000 persons who back their viewpoint.

The group was led by Walter Menzies, a lawyer at Butler who has a cottage on the Winnebago shore, and Virgil Achterberg of Neenah, and included also Oscar Steffen and Hugh Lavey of rural Chilwaukee, Calumet county.

They scoffed at the claim of the conservation department fisheries men that it is necessary to remove surplus sheephead from the lake, and the promise that an evaluation of the netting results will be made during the next five years. The program of fish removal has been underway for 25 years thus far, and has been clearly shown to be a failure, they asserted.

Main Points
The protesting group made these main points:

1. In taking sheephead in nets, the state and its contract fishermen are incidentally taking many sports fish including pike, and although they are released, they are typically damaged and die as a result of the netting.

2. The sheephead population is a natural part of the wildlife balance in the lake and the young sheephead provide forage for the pike. With a diminishing supply of forage, the number of pike has been reduced drastically and sports fishing virtually ruined.

3. The alteration of the natural balance of the lake has brought about a heavy increase in the lake fly problem because the sheephead feeds on the fly.

4. The sheephead harvesting is an economic boon to the milk farmer, at the cost of the sports fishermen and riparian owners and investors.

5. The decline of the wall-toed pike has virtually extinguished the tourist industry in the Winnebago region which once was a profitable asset.

Menzies told Fairfield that lake shore residents are so wrought up about the conservation department's netting program that they have threatened to destroy the nets if they are returned to the water in the spring.

Achterberg said that each net haul brings up a catch that includes six to 10 per cent of game fish, most of which are damaged in some way. He cited conservation department reports which said that the department has thus far taken 26,000,000 pounds of sheephead from the lake.

Real Outlaw
The delegation also said that it is easy to catch carp "which is the real outlaw," but that the department evidently prefers to concentrate on the sheephead which are more saleable.

They maintained also that even if the game fish are not actually captured in the nets they are hurt when they bump into them underwater. "The pike travel at high speed and with about 100,000 feet of netting in the lake they can hardly fail to strike the nets," said Menzies.

The personal protest to the executive office followed a series of meetings in which Richard Harris, the state area coordinator for fisheries at Oshkosh, has upheld the state viewpoint that there must be artificial removal of trash fish from the big lake to maintain the natural balance there.

Sacred Heart 'A' And 'B' Quintets Beat St. Therese
Sacred Heart of Appleton posted a 30-22 victory over St. Therese of Appleton in the Catholic Boys conference Sunday in the Sacred Heart gym.

The winners moved off to a 9-0 quarter lead and coasted in. Gary Hietpas collected 20 to lead the victors, Timmers paced St. Therese with 10.

The Sacred Heart "B" team triumphed 30-21, over St. Therese. Jim Sensenbrenner and "Chuck" Werner each counted eight points for the victors. Hayes topped the losers with 10 tallies for the victors. Hayes topped the losers with 10 tallies. It was the ninth win in 11 starts for the Sacred Heart "Bs".

New Pests Caught
Sacramento, Calif. — Inspectors checked 327,479 vehicles for agricultural pests at California border stations in one month. They intercepted 12 types of insect pests unknown in California.

Slippery Roads
The accumulated water from the readings plunged during the night, leaving slippery conditions on Highways 12 and 51 in the south central sections. Interstate Highway 90 in Rock county was slippery, but other I-system roads were clear.

Florida, after a nearly a week of chilly weather which caused crop losses estimated in the millions of dollars, also was warmer.

It was nearly 20 degrees below zero in International Falls, Minn., as the Arctic air strengthened its grip across the Dakotas and Minnesota and parts of Wisconsin and Michigan. Readings of -10 were reported at Duluth and Grand Forks.

Snow fell in the cold belt but amounts were light in most places. Snow flurries flecked areas in the Great Lakes region and in mountain regions of western Pennsylvania and New York.

Georgia Tech Deals Kentucky 65-44 Defeat

Loss Wildcats' 4th Worst Under Rupp; Virginia Tech Cops

By the Associated Press
The Engineers of Georgia Tech are building their first championship season in Southeastern conference basketball since 1939 by literally tearing down the king, mighty Kentucky.

Faced with a "must" game against the challenging Wildcats at Atlanta Monday night, the Engineers not only beat Kentucky for the second time

Denton Arrested on Charges of Scalping
Atlanta — Georgia Tech basketball star Dave Denton was scheduled to appear in Municipal court today on charges of scalping tickets to the Georgia Tech-Kentucky game.

Denton scored 18 points to help defeat Kentucky, 65-44, Monday night after being arrested for allegedly trying to sell two $2 tickets for $20.

This season, but handed the Wildcats their fourth worst whipping in 729 games under Adolph Rupp's 30-year coaching era, piling up a 65-44 rout to the roars of 7,348 fans.

So harrying was the touted Tech defense that Kentucky hit only 16.3 per cent of its shots. What Georgia Tech lacked from the field—18-13 in field goals—it more than overbalanced at the free throw line, dropping 33 of 40 while the Wildcats hit on 18 of 30.

Three Worse
Since Baron Rupp became the Kentucky coach in 1930 to build basketball's greatest record, only his 89-50 loss to CCNY in 1950, his 101-77 setback by Alabama in 1958, and his 41-20 beating from Notre Dame in 1938 have equaled or topped this one.

To rub it in, Tech's scoring leaders—junior Roger Kaiser, who had 24 points, and senior Dave Denton, who led the play-making and scored 18—hail from Kentucky's own back yard.

It was Tech's fifteenth victory in 17 games while Kentucky, now 10-5 for the season, is 4-2 in the league it has dominated so long and down to third place, a step behind idle Tulane (3-1). Tech now ranked sixth nationally, beat Kentucky at Lexington, 62-54, in their first meeting.

Streaking Virginia Tech (12-2) won its eighth in a row, 107-77, over Furman, and Minnesota continued its surprising challenge in the Big Ten with a hot-shooting 87-72 rout of Iowa at Iowa City in other key games on the limited Monday schedule.

Lakeview Volleyball Team Cops 3 Tilts
Lakeview (6-0) knocked McHugh Septic (3-3) from a first place tie in the YMCA Men's Fellowship Volleyball league in latest action, 16-14, 15-13 and 15-13.

Riverside (3-3) posted a 15-6, 15-7, 15-8 victory over Western Adjustment (0-3) Y's Men (3-3) stopped Earl Lyth Printing (0-3) by scores of 15-8, 15-3, 15-8.

No Predictions
Bobcat Player-Captain Johnny Mayasich, who has led the Bobcats to a 20-5 overall record, including 13 victories in 16 home showings, is making no predictions about the outcome, pointing out, "I've never seen Milwaukee play and I haven't seen an International league game all year."

"As far as we're concerned, however, if we play like we did against Warroad, we're in trouble. Milwaukee, I feel sure, is a team much like Warroad. That is, they will make that good pass and take advantage of every mistake we make."

The Bobcats, weakened by the loss of centers Paul Johnson and Pete Buchmann, have added two players for tonight's match, center Mike

Harry Bright Is Only Cub Who Hasn't Signed
Chicago — Pitcher Art Ceccarelli and catcher Cal Neenan have come to terms with the Chicago Cubs leaving only infielder Harry Bright unsigned, it was announced today.

Ceccarelli and Neenan brought to 36 the number of players signed for the 1960 season.

Ceccarelli, a southpaw, came to the Cubs from Fort Worth midway in the 1959 season and posted a 5-5 record including a pair of shut-outs.

Do You Need More Sleep?
What happens when you don't get enough sleep? What's the effect on the brain? Will "one night's good rest" make up the difference? Here in February Reader's Digest is a report on new studies which show that sleep loss is subtle poison... everybody needs at least 6 hours sleep for good mental health.

Tri-City Boy Scouts participating in the "Yukon Trek" winter games at Plamann park Saturday were paid off in "gold nuggets" after completing each event. A perfect score on the four events, including first aid, rescue work, fire-building and height judging, was 23 nuggets. Paymaster Denny Mullins, left, of Troop 1 at St. Joseph Catholic church, paid James Schwaller and Robert Wittman, of Troop 7, St. Therese Catholic church, while Scoutmaster Henry Cops, Troop 1, marked down their score.

Milwaukee Falcons Play Bobcats Tonight

Pearson, Kawulia Added to Green Bay Club for Game

Green Bay — The Green Bay Bobcats tonight face what looms as their stiffest test of the season, an intrastate showdown with the Milwaukee Falcons of the International league at the Brown County arena.

The Bobcats, leaders of the Central Hockey league, will be seeking a fresh start after having a 12-game winning streak snapped by the Warroad, Minn., Lakers over the weekend. The Lakers, defending champions of the Ontario-Minnesota league, tripped the Bobcats, 7-4, Saturday and 9-4 Sunday.

Milwaukee, running third in the Eastern division of the IHL, also will be hungry for victory, having dropped a weekend pair to Toledo and Indianapolis.

The Falcons, almost invincible at home, have had their troubles on the road, a pattern the Bobcats hope will hold until 11 p.m. tonight. Milwaukee, with a 19-23-1 season record has scored 16 of those victories at Milwaukee's State Fair Park coliseum. On the road, the Falcons have won only 3 of 21 appearances.

Lefkowitz' action was an off-shoot of a long investigation into the promotion of the heavyweight championship 1 pound last June 26 in which Patterson lost the crown to Ingemar Johansson.

NEW YORK — The president of the TelePrompTer, accused of engaging in an "unholy alliance" to monopolize the world heavyweight championship by the state attorney general—today denied any wrongdoing.

"We believe our contracts to be valid," thundered Irving B. Kahn, chief of the multimillion-dollar company. "We have no intention of backing out of this position. We will cooperate but not be intimidated."

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz Monday obtained a state supreme court order permitting him to begin action to dissolve both TelePrompTer and Floyd Patterson Enterprises, Ltd., for attempting to monopolize heavyweight title fights and their radio-TV movie rights.

Both Patterson and his manager, Cus D'Amato, the only stockholders of Floyd Patterson Enterprises, went into hiding.

Lefkowitz' action was an off-shoot of a long investigation into the promotion of the heavyweight championship 1 pound last June 26 in which Patterson lost the crown to Ingemar Johansson.

Father Admonishes Young Girl For Not Striking Back in Fight

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday our 10-year-old Lisa came from school with a nose-bleed. She got into a fight with a girl on the way home. The girl hit her. My husband said "I hope you hit the big lum-mox back good and hard." Lisa said she didn't want to get into a fight. He said "I was wrong? Am I?—Passive Resistor."

My husband lectured her sternly and called her a "fraidy cat." I said I was proud of Lisa for not wanting to get into a fight. He said "I was wrong? Am I?—Passive Resistor."

DEAR ANN: I don't need advice. I need a swift kick in the trousers and I think you're just the one who can give it to me. Pour it on, Annie. I deserve it.

I'm a man 50 years of age. About six months ago I feared my life was getting dull. I decided an outside romance would pep me up so I had a fight with a married woman half my age. I thought I'd take my fun and ditch her when it was over.

I didn't count on the dumb-bell falling head over heels. Without consulting me, she asked her husband for a divorce. He said "Nothing doing" but invited her to move out any time and go to work. He said he'll "keep the kids at all cost."

Then the dumb girl went to my wife and told her I wanted a divorce. My wife ordered her out of the house and said if I wanted a divorce I'd have to ask for it.

When I got home she wanted to know what it was all about. I confessed and promised I'd never look at another woman as long as I live.

I'm ashamed and heartsick. When I see this young woman at parties I wish I could evaporate into thin air. She follows me around shamelessly and I can't shake her.

My wife has never thrown this affair up to me and I love her for it. I'm sorry I've caused her grief and would do anything to relieve the past year. Please print my letter for the benefit of other old bucks who think they can't capture youth by the same foolish route.—A.G.

DEAR A.G.: No point in my peering it on. You're catching plenty of heat from within — which, in the final analysis is the roughest punishment of all.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We at the United States Navy Recruiting center at Los Angeles, wish to thank you for your intelligent reply to that ignorant man who suggested all the bums, loafers and promiscuous men be rounded up and put into the armed services.

A great many people are unaware that volunteers must be morally, mentally and physically fit in order to qualify. No one with a juvenile or police record is accepted. A surprising number of applicants are turned down. Again our thanks for promoting a better understanding among your millions of readers.—P.S.N.R.C.

Dear Readers: I received many letters from U. S. Marine corps centers, army, air force and coast guard recruiters as well as men who have found a home in the armed services.

America can relax in the knowledge that we are protected by top quality men.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experience of thousands of teenagers if you read Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Aging Lines

After a woman passes her fortieth birthday, she is prey to aging lines at the corners of the eyes known as "crow's feet." The trouble has its source in eye strain or the habit of squinting. It is compounded by the gradual lessening of oil and moisture in the mature skin.

If you wish to prevent these lines from forming—as who would not—you obviously must check on the impulse to squint. You must have your vision checked regularly, too.

When the lines are already entrenched, you naturally must be more than ever vigilant about eye health and the squinting habit. You should also take the steps that soften the lines and keep them from deepening. The most effective ones are:

Apply a lubricating eye cream before retiring—always. As the skin in the area is particularly delicate, pat on your cream with the fingertips. Any other motion would stretch the tissue.

During the day, use a moisturizing lotion. Apply it to the entire face. If you wear a powder base, wear your lotion under it.

Focus attention on your eyes with subtle eye make-up. The lines will go unnoticed.

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my 4-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat and Chin." For your copy, write me in care of your newspaper, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Jump Bid Comes Out Of Double

West opens the bidding with one heart, and North doubles for a takeout. North promises at least 13 points in support of any suit his partner may name. North has 12 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton.

It's worth noting that North has only 12 points in support of clubs. You don't count the value of a doubleton when you have only three trumps in support of partner's suit. Hence North has minimum value for his double if South responds in spades or diamonds; and he has a shaded double if South responds in clubs.

Jump Response

South counts his hand for play at spades. He has nine points in high cards and one point for the doubleton. The total value is 10 points. Since this is enough for a jump response, South jumps to two spades.

R. D. Lattimer To Graduate

Richard D. Lattimer, son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Lattimer, 115 E. Nielsen company, Chicago. He will do graduate work at De Paul university.

South is not worried about having only four spades. North promises good support for the unbid major suit. When an expert doubles a major suit he almost always has four cards in the other major suit. If he has fewer than three cards, he's no expert.

North counts his points again and adds them to those shown by the jump response. The combined total is 22 to 24 points. This is not quite enough for game, so North passes.

South must lose a spade, two hearts, and a club. He is happy to be in a safe part-score contract. He is also pleased that he made an attempt to reach game, since North would have gone on with a slightly better hand—and probably the game would be a reasonable contract.

The jump response is helpful when the doubler has about 15 points. He can safely accept the invitation. When responder fails to jump, the doubler needn't think about game with a 15-point hand. Simple arithmetic will keep the partnership out of trouble.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your right, opens with one spade. You hold: S—K 9 5 3, H—10 5, D—A 8 7 2, C—A J 5. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Do not double for a takeout when you have length in the opponent's suit and shortness in an unbid suit. (Copyright 1960)

Words to the wise, from a baby-nurse I know: "A baby's opinion of you is formed by the promptness and tenderness with which his wants are met. If reasonable demands are met when baby is tiny, he's less apt to make unreasonable ones later. And through loving care, baby learns to trust... a happy state of affairs for any baby."

New Spark for Floor

This will be a special year for accent rugs — especially because of the new ones that look custom made. Wonderful bright colors in sparkling combinations and unusual sizes won't be difficult to find as 1960 progresses, according to the recent previews of floor coverings for spring. Sketched is one that's proportioned to decorate a floor in a favorite spot, a long slender rug to fit in front of a long sofa.

Artists turn their attention from other fields to create many of the new rugs. This African shield design is by William Hinz, a young Chicagoan who is known for his distinctive modern tapestries. It belongs to a collection of eye-catching area and accent rugs for which Mr. Hinz has used abstractions and playful animal designs in sophisticated colors. The sofa long rug is all nylon, and others are of the new Zefran fiber.

Send today for Elizabeth Hillier's booklet "What's Wrong With That Room?", a quick check list of room faults and how to correct them—a booklet that contains so much information it's a short-short course in practical decorating. Paris Designers Revive Sack Dress

BY NADEANE WALKER
Paris — (U) — Fashion designer Pierre Balmain today showed a "Greek column" line, slim and semi-slack at the waist in his presentation of what women will wear for the spring.

Balmain's styles were a far cry from the sack.

When belts were used they hugged the top of the hips, thus lowering the waistline.

Hemlines just covered the knees and tube coats were tunic-length with split backs.

Daytime necklines were modest curves or straight across.

Materials were light and drapery, in soft tones of pink and blue, beige and grey. Sleeves were three-quarter tubes. There were skirts in small knife-pleats, and a flounce of pleats appeared on sheath skirts. True suits had short, slack blouses in silk shantung.

While Balmain's dresses were not in full, sexy style, they were a great distance from the sack that hid feminine charm and wore on men's nerves.

Battle lines between sex and sack were drawn at openings Monday.

Patou was the proponent of slinky sex. Pierre Cardin sneaked back with the sack. A few of his creations were fitted at the hip, and some fitted at the knee. But the rest were in the bag.

Kneecaps Show
Here and there skinny kneecaps emerged, but most skirts just managed to cover them. Waistlines were nowhere, and buckram-stiffened hip puffs hid any shape. Cardin's mannequins may be endowed with. Their outstanding feature was a craven chested look.

There were bib-fronted short sacks and strapless long sacks, caught in at the knee with a rose. And there were numerous puff-ball skirts caught into hobble hems at the knee. Shades of purple colored the Cardin collection. He promised to bring out a new color—"really an old, forgotten one." The color turned out to be puce, a rather revolting red-purple.

"Village idiot" hats, roughly the shape of a careless haystack, added six to eight inches to the models' height.

Natasha, Cardin's new mannequin who was supposed to parade wearing glasses, must have lost her nerve. She wore a beauty spot instead.

Patou earlier showed short, tight skirts with a hippy look and Marilyn Monroe wriggle. Some of his décolletage was downright naughty, with a cut-out triangle below the bustline. All the accent was on sex.

Babies Need Fresh Air During Winter Months

BY ANGELO PATRI
All babies need fresh air if they are to thrive as they should. Babies are not likely to take cold because the weather is lowering the temperature.

Cold air usually is clean air, and the baby enjoys it. He has warm clothes on and a blanket and that will enable him to defy the temperature.

He would have to be left out in extremely cold weather until he was frosted before the cold could hurt him. That is unlikely to happen.

Most babies carry too much clothing on winter days. I have seen a baby perspiring on a cold winter day because he had warm underclothes on, two sweaters, a padded hood, and heaped-on blankets. He also had a hot water bottle beside him. That was overdoing it and the little chap was highly uncomfortable.

Avoid Wind
It isn't good, of course, to wheel a baby into the face of the cold winter wind. That isn't done. But there is no reason to fear, as some do, that a draft across a room will give the child a cold so all doors and windows must be tightly shut.

I do not believe that a draft gives anybody a cold. I do believe that windows can be opened in winter to give not only the baby but the entire family fresh air. Good clean fresh air is what prevents colds and allied illnesses. Cold air won't hurt anybody as long as he is protected sufficiently against chill. And that is not hard to do.

Fear of cold weather is bad as all fear is, for sound health. Mothers so often have this fear and pass it along to the children.

Children have no such dread so if they are helped into their ski, or snow suits, their caps snugly set over their precious ears, stout shoes on their feet, they can be sent outdoors to play with profit to all concerned.

The baby can still have his nap on the porch, in his pram—dressed for the temperature, but please, not weighted down with wraps so that he is uncomfortable. Study what the thermometer says and dress him accordingly sensibly. The thermometer is a good guide for children's dress.

Give Your Watch A Birthday Gift

A watch is one of the most popular birthday gifts of all. But have you ever thought of giving your watch a "birthday gift" of a checkup by a jeweler?

It's a good idea, so good, in fact, that many jewelers send "birthday cards" on the anniversary of each watch purchased as a reminder to owners that it's time to have their timepieces checked, adjusted if necessary, cleaned and oiled.

"It's just a precaution," says the card, "but a little attention now may mean a lot of prevention later."

HIS AND HERS —

BY MURIEL STAFFORD, GRAPHOLOGIST

BE Before marriage perfect
SEE Made at lun

Bewildered Husband

"... I love her very much. Before marriage everything was perfect. Not so now. Can you tell us why?"

We are inclined to think those we love are just like ourselves. The most crucial time in a marriage is the discovery that this is not so.

Your orderly, small-lettered script with letters slanting far to the right reveals a person of fine character with a deep capacity for devotion. You are ruled by a warm affection and the desire to do everything possible for those you love. You expect response and co-operation in return. You are straightforward, unpretentious.

Though you did not realize it before marriage, your wife's actions are not spontaneous like yours. Sometime or other, most likely as a child, she was made to feel that to love is to be hurt. She's been guarding her feelings ever since by putting on an act.

Her letters are large, rounded, very left-slanted. She often curls the endings of her words to the left "back towards self." She feels and thinks somewhat like this: "I must protect myself. I'll pretend to be everything everyone likes. They wouldn't like the real me. I'll never let them know, but I won't like them either."

This self-protective wall gets stronger at the slightest hint of criticism. Your wife, due to some unhappy past experience, is likely to think that correction is an indication of hostility. However, she needs to develop a much better sense of responsibility.

If the situation does not improve you may need the help of a good psychiatrist. I would advise you to go to one who understands the significance of graphology since this analysis could save him much time.

Miss Stafford welcomes letters from her readers. They cannot be acknowledged but the most interesting ones will be used in her column.

In Good Taste Tactless To Send Gift Back

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I was maid of honor at my sister's wedding. My sister-in-law who is an excellent seamstress, not only offered to let me borrow her dress, but also completely remade it for me. As we have not been overly friendly in the past this action both surprised and pleased me and I felt a gift was in order for her kindness. Apparently not, because this morning I received a telephone call saying that she did not think it proper or necessary to give a gift to a member of one's family for a favor and refused to accept it. Am I wrong in feeling that this was a gross discourtesy on her part? Don't you agree that a gift given in good faith should not be sent back unopened?

Answer: Sending back your gift was certainly tactless, but I am sure she meant no discourtesy and only wished to show you that she expected no return for her favor.

Thanks by Proxy
Dear Mrs. Post: At the present time my husband is ill in the hospital. He received many flowers and gifts from his friends. He is too ill to write thank-you notes for these presents and will probably not be strong enough to write for several weeks. Under the circumstances, am I expected to write thank-you notes for him?

Answer: A few words such as, "John will not be strong enough to write for weeks, so I am writing this for him to thank-you for the lovely flowers you sent him" will not take long to write and will be very polite.

Religious Song
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper to applaud after a religious song sung on a stage for entertainment? There have been many pros and cons.

Answer: When a religious song is sung on a stage for entertainment, you do applaud the singer.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-29, entitled, "Buffet Dinners, Lunches, and Suppers," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Wake-Up Service Grows In Sleepy Community

Indianapolis — (U) — "Would you rather lose two hours' work because you oversleep, or spend a dollar a week to make sure you're there to greet the boss when he comes to work?"

With this logic, Mrs. Jean Danenfelter explains why her service for sleepyheads has become a thriving enterprise, not only for her but for several women in Indianapolis who copied it.

Several months ago Mrs. Danenfelter and her husband were at a party. She complained she would have to go to bed because as a neighborly gesture she was responsible for waking a couple of neighbors.

"Why don't you start charging for the service?" asked Danenfelter, who didn't want to leave the party.

35 Customers
Today the Danenfelter "Wake-Up Service" has 35 customers and is growing.

Mrs. Danenfelter, the company's president, arises at 3:30 a.m. "I have my coffee and get awake myself before making my calls," she says.

For the next few hours, her telephone probably is one of the busiest in town.

"My conversation with the clients depends on how sleepy they are," she says. "I usually give them the temperature and weather report and anything I think will make their day brighter."

"If they seem tired, I tell them: 'I'm gonna call back and check on you.'"

There's not been a single complaint since the service began. "I'm very proud that I've never been late," the boss said.

Her husband, a molding superintendent, serves as business manager.

Most of the 35 customers are men. There are milkmen, cab drivers, floral designers, clerks and factory workers. And there are mothers who say, "It's worth a dollar just the army will not fire on the insurgents.

Debre Says Rightists Peril France's Future

With 24 Frenchmen dead and 140 injured in Sunday's battle between rightist mobs and riot police, most of the rebel holdouts behind the barricades appeared today in the khaki fatigue uniforms of Algeria's territorial guards, a civilian militia.

The press agency quoted the Algiers newspaper Echo D'Alger as saying city council members sought and won assurance from Gen. Maurice Challe, army commander, and Paul Delouvrier, De Gaulle's delegate general in the North African territory, that regular military forces will not use their guns against the insurgents.

The councilmen also asked that no reprisals be taken against the rightist masterminds of the uprising, Joseph Ortiz and Pierre Lagailarde.

Ortiz

Rumors spread around Paris that both Challe and Delouvrier had threatened to resign if ordered to use force. There was no confirmation.

Debre issued his statement after a noon meeting with De Gaulle, who himself plans to make an official visit to Algiers Feb. 4.

"The riot has already brought much evil to France," he said.

He confirmed he had carried instructions to civil and military authorities to continue their mission to restore order.

Liberty Involved

"It is necessary to affirm before the entire world that the fight of France is that of liberty . . . it carries for all Algerians the free expression of their wishes," he said.

"Nothing will be possible and even all can be lost if order is not first re-established and maintained in Algeria."

He called for all-out support in the effort to restore order.

Rigid censorship delayed news of the Algiers stalemate and permitted little detail.

The latest word was that troops still ringed the downtown area where insurgents strengthened barricades made of cobblestones, overturned cars and bits and pieces of construction materials. One report reaching Paris said some edginess was developing among paratroops on duty there.

Barricades Manned

Behind the barricades, haggard men waited. Some rested light machine guns on makeshift parapets. Most sat quietly, sipped wine and ate sandwiches handed across by sympathizers. The troops did not intervene.

Debre made his trouble-shooting flight to Algiers last night. The army announced he talked with Challe and Delouvrier. He was reported to have conferred also with 10

Algiers parliamentary deputies.

His plane whisked him back to Paris before the sleeping populace was aware of his presence.

The 10 Algiers deputies are expected to come to Paris later today to continue the talks.

Meanwhile, both sides — the 1,000 to 3,000 insurgents and the paratroopers who ringed them—held their fire in the hope there would be a peaceful solution.

But a crowd of nearly 5,000 massed before a statue of Joan of Arc in downtown Algiers early today in a demonstration of their sympathy for the embattled insurgents.

Rebels Ask Support

The demonstrators moved out after the insurgents asked for a show of solidarity.

There was no immediate report of disorder, and as the demonstrators did not appear in an ugly mood troops made no effort to break up the crowd.

But the fact that the premier of France had ducked in and out of Algiers without making a public appearance seemed an indication of the public temper.

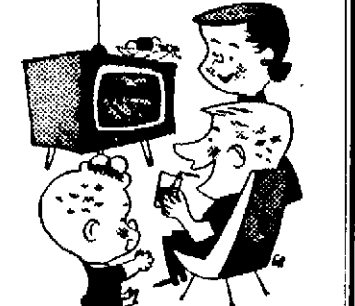

It is doubtful the people would have given Debre a friendly welcome. The 48-year-old premier is a rigid supporter of De Gaulle's Algerian policy. This would not sit well in a city whose residents once pelted a French premier with garbage because they felt he was not pushing their interests hard enough.

It had been expected that Debre would make a try at talking the insurgents out of their street barricades without yielding on De Gaulle's moderate policy of self-determination for Algeria. But official announcements made no mention of his seeing any insurgents.

failures led her to excessive drinking. As a young woman, she moved swiftly through two unsuccessful marriages, first to Bramwell Fletcher, an actor, and then to John Howard, a professional tennis player.

Reputation Suffered

By 1947, her reputation for drinking and belligerence had closed all doors her name had opened. During her third marriage to Robert Wilcox, she and her husband were arrested for stealing food from a supermarket. One day, Miss Barrymore swallowed 27 sleeping pills with whisky boys were dug in at two strong points in the heart of the city. They were well armed and vowed to stand fast in their struggle for French Algeria.

as a chaser. She was found in time to save her life.

After the death of Wilcox in 1955, Miss Barrymore began the long, uphill struggle for a comeback. She wrote her book, including the sordid details of her dissipation. She licked her drinking problem.

Recently she completed a successful 10-week Chicago appearance in "Garden District" by her close personal friend, Tennessee Williams.

At the time of her death, she reportedly was negotiating to star in London in "Sweet Bird of Youth," another Williams play.

She told friends recently, "I have begun to find my way."

Her body was taken to Bellevue hospital for an autopsy. Her manager, Viola Rubber, who lives across the street from Miss Barrymore's apartment, said the actress had complained of chest pains. She was under a doctor's care at the time of her death.

There was no indication of the value of Miss Barrymore's estate. Her attorney, Aaron Froch, said she "had no financial difficulties."

Friends who visited Miss Barrymore at her apartment Sunday night said she was worried about not working. But Miss Rubber said she had received several offers.

Iron Works Back Into Production After Power Loss

The Valley Iron Works company plant went back into production about 4:30 p.m. Monday after being shut down when a power cable was severed at 10:02 a.m. Monday.

Except for the half day's production, there was no substantial damage to the plant equipment, although some re-lining of foundry cupolas may be necessary.

The company notified the city today it will seek damages for any losses incurred. Director of Public Works Duszynski said the city carries insurance to cover the accident.

The power cable was severed as a city crew dug a post hole for an iron fence along the tailrace on S. Island street. The fence is to replace an old wooden barrier.

Wisconsin Michigan Power company crews started work immediately on reconnecting the 4,160 volt cable and had the job completed by about 3:40 p.m.

The iron works was alerted to the possible time of resumption of power and called in its second and third shifts. The second shift reported for work at 4:25 p.m.

The fire department sent a truck for standby duty when the hot line was put back into commission.

Vander Velden was arrested at the intersection of Mason street and Wisconsin avenue after he was involved in an accident Monday.

He tested .20. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

New London's First City Nurse Succumbs

New London—Miss Loretta Rice, 78, of 314 N. Shawano street, New London's first public health nurse, died about 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Little Wolf rest home, near Manawa, after several months of illness.

Death Cuts Short Boy's Bid for Better Life

The doctors gave little Tommy Vallard only 10 days to live when he was born with a spine defect Feb. 8, 1958, in Appleton. But Tommy wouldn't give up that easily, and lived and grew. Unable to sit up, he spent his time lying on his stomach watching television.

As the tot neared his second birthday, his parents,

Two Jail Escapees Get Long Prison Terms

Green Bay — Long state prison terms were imposed by Municipal Judge Donald W. Gleason Monday against the two men who staged last Wednesday's escape from the county jail while awaiting sentencing on an assortment of burglary and armed robbery charges throughout Wisconsin.

Roger J. Dury, 25, received sentences amounting to 45 years after pleading guilty to two counts of armed robbery, two counts of burglary, one count of auto theft, one count of escape and one count of battery.

His companion, George M. Madden, 34, drew 30 years at Waupun for seven counts of burglary, one count of aiding and abetting a burglary and one count of escape. He also pleaded guilty to all counts.

Subsequent investigation linked Dury, Hannon and a third man, Homer Willison, 28, Green Bay, with an armed robbery at Tippler in Florence county. Hannon and Willison both face municipal court action in armed robbery charges here and a Tippler.

Willison Skipped

Willison, awaiting preliminary hearing Feb. 9, recently left Green Bay and police have not learned his whereabouts.

D. C. Shepard, Jr., Given Award for Civic Activities

Neenah-Menasha Jaycees Give Plaque; Glenn Davis Speaker

Menasha — Donald C. "Tad" Shepard, Jr., general manager of Menasha Wooden Ware corporation and identified with many civic activities, Monday night received the Junior Chamber of Commerce's 21st annual distinguished service award.

At the award dinner in the Elks club, Glenn R. Davis, Waukesha attorney and former second district congressman, praised Shepard as a "symbol of youthful leadership."

Shepard, a 1950 graduate of Yale university, joined Menasha Wooden Ware in July 1950, helped organize its specialty department two months later, and was named production manager in January, 1954. Last June, he assumed his present post.

He is a member of the board of trustees of Theda Clark Memorial hospital, was drive chairman of the 1956 Community Chest and its president last year. He is co-chairman of the chamber of commerce's congressional action committee. Shepard is on the board of directors of the First National Bank of Menasha and on the executive committee of the Winnebago County Republican party organization. Shepard is a council member-at-large of the Boy Scouts' Valley council.

Presentation of the award plaque was by C. Raymond Durkee, chairman of the distinguished service award committee. Other jaycees on the award committee were Clifford M. Lee, Eugene M. Bahlman, James A. Payne, James A. DeWolf, Lewis E. Ake and Ronald A. Hanter.

Cites Parallel

People have two values to their communities, Davis went on. "They are valuable

After originally pleading innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, Smith was sent to Central State Hospital at Waupun for an examination. He was returned to court Monday with a hospital report that he was competent to stand trial.

Plans for the new Neenah Junior High school were viewed by the council and board of education Monday night. Looking at the blueprints for the 750-pupil school are, left to right, Ald. Warren Sanders, council president, Mayor Chester S. Bell, Fred Kramer, architect who explained the plans, and Frank X. Hochholzer, school board vice chairman who presided at the meeting.

Board Asks Council Approval of Junior High School Plans

Alderman Wants Information on Date New Edgewood Grade Building Needed

Neenah — School board members presented their final plans for the new junior high school to the common council at a meeting of the two groups Monday night. The council may act on the plans at its Feb. 3 meeting to facilitate early bidding.

However, more information is wanted by some of the aldermen, not on this school but on the future school needs of the city.

"Before I vote on this," Ald. Warren Sanders commented, "I would like some definite information as to when the Edgewood area school will be needed."

The new junior high school will postpone that need for several years by housing several of the upper elementary grades but Sanders inquired what the board's plan for the present Kimberly Junior High school is. He gained support on this request from other council members.

School Commissioner Ross Wilcox said he did not think the board ever indicated it would abandon the Kimberly Junior High school but that the citizens advisory committee report had proposed abandoning it for junior high purposes.

Future Kimberly Use

Ald. Ewald Miller said the council wondered if the Kimberly Junior high would be used for elementary school purposes to take up some of the overflow from the other schools and thus delay the need for the new Edgewood school.

L. A. Gilbertson said the board had been discussing the future use but had not crystallized its views on a definite plan.

"I think we want the assurance the board is addressing itself to that," Ald. Paul Hansen added.

"Rest assured that we are," Wilcox replied.

Mayor Chester S. Bell cautioned the council to act on the plan.

Doctor Warns Of Federal Aid Bill Passage

Tells Kiwanis Club Health Plan Marks Advance of Socialism

Menasha — Passage of the pending federal health aid bill for the aged would push the nation into socialism, Dr. William Hildebrand told the Kiwanis club Monday night.

H. R. 4700, he said, would not only be a staggeringly expensive, cut security benefits, destroy the physician-patient relationship and open up opportunity for political abuse, it would not do the job intended.

Dr. Hildebrand said the problems of the aged are as different as the individuals concerned. There can be no mass panacea. Only private, community effort can meet the individual needs, he declared.

He said there was a danger that H.R. 4700 or some other similar bill may be passed. The administration, he said, had cooled in its opposition so far that President Eisenhower has withdrawn his threat of a veto and Health and Welfare Secretary Flemming had said the pending bill or some alternative bill must be passed.

The AFL-CIO, he said, had placed passage of H.R. 4700 as its second most important target for this session of congress.

Bill's Provisions

The bill would provide 60 days of hospitalization and 60 days of nursing home care in hospitals and nursing homes under contract with the government. All medical care would be provided through

Sanitary District in Town Area Discussed

Residents Along Highway 150 Complain of Water Contamination; Committee Picked

Menasha — Investigation of setting up a sanitary district for the area in the town of Menasha along Highway 150 and west of Highway 41 is being undertaken by a committee named by a group of residents of that area and town and school officials who met Monday night at the Spring Road school.

Complaints had been received that many of the homes in that area as well as Spring Road school now have contaminated water and several said their wells have become contaminated since the construction of Highway 41.

They pointed to the difficulties in getting rid of the surface water which now stands on the fields where formerly it drained off.

Attending the meeting from the state board of health were Donald G. Carter, public health engineer, both of Fond du Lac.

Check Homes

These two men have made a spot check of homes in the area after receiving reports of contaminated water and will make a definite study of the area in regard to the water supply and the surface drainage problem. They will be calling on the individual homes in this area.

Monday night's meeting was called by George Strohmeyer, town board member and health officer for the western part of the township. He will serve as an ex-officio member of the committee named to study formation of a sanitary district.

On this committee are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schultz as chairmen, Lyle Hoffmann, Melvin Bebout, Arthur Jacobs, John C. Boileau and Roy Zeh from the homes in that area and David Sugden and Howard Birr from the Spring Road school board.

School Well Contaminated

The school well has tested as contaminated and water is being brought in from a Menasha dairy for cooking and drinking purposes.

The committee has set 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 3, for a tentative meeting to review its progress. This meeting will be at the Schultz home and is open to others in the area wishing to serve on the committee.

WHAT MAKES US TICK

A child is curious when he hears a watch tick. He pries open the cover, takes the watch apart, and tries to discover the cause of the tick. Few people stop to think how their own bodies function.

The body is made up of about sixteen elements such as carbon, hydrogen, sulphur, etc. About 70% of the body is water. The market price of all the elements found in the body is about 75¢. If it were possible to combine all these elements in exact proportion as found in the body we still would find no trace of the "tick" or the activity we know as life.

Chiropractic is based on the principle that the body is controlled and coordinated from the brain. The brain delivers intelligent electrical energy found in a nerve impulse which is 1/500,000 of a volt. This energy is life itself and is commonly spoken of as "nature". Interference with the transmission of this energy produces an area of lowered resistance and disease enters in.

Hall Topples 583 Series in Neenah Wheel

Neenah — Irv Hall slapped a 583 series to capture 3-game honors in the Sleepy Hollow Bowling league Monday night at Muench's Recreation alleys.

Lyle Hanson cracked a 236 singleton to share in the night's laurels. Latham Body Works and Kiwanis Builders are tied for first place with 30-18 records. They lead the next two teams by a game.

John Stark posted a 550 set in the Knights of Columbus wheel Monday night at Muench's Santa Marias (31-23) are in the lead by 24-lines.

No honor totals came out of the Monday afternoon Business and Professional Women's wheel at Muench's. Typists have a 14-game lead over two challengers with their 30-1-23 record.

The mayor also wondered about the advisability of building as large a home economics and industrial arts wing as proposed. He was advised that local school policy calls for all junior high boys to take two years of industrial arts and the girls two years of home economics.

The boys have four different types of industrial arts they receive in that period and the girls do not just get cooking and sewing for their home economics. Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes replied.

The mayor said he had had an uninformed doubt as to the need at present for so much space and was wondering if it could be added to later since the 750 students for which the building is planned would not be using that facility at the start but in 1970, according to previous estimates.

Kramer replied the building would house 450 junior high pupils when opened in 1961 and that the rooms designed for home economics are smaller than those now used at the Kimberly Junior High.

Supt. Mennes said the school administration and board would like to make band, vocal music, industrial arts and home economics a 5-hour week class for each. At least three hours of gym a week is required by the state, he cited.

Mayor Bell replied he would like to see a larger percentage of time spent on the academic subjects but should probably address his objections to the state legislature rather than the school board.

After further discussion on some of the building features and specifications, it was decided to have the school board send the council a formal request as to what non-premature swamped Eastey so the council could then approve the plans and call for a bond issue.

After the plans are approved by the council, then the board can take its bids for the construction, signing the contracts for that work after the bond issue is floated.

Council Okay Asked on Plans Of Junior High

tioned the school board and council to broaden its horizon since "each million dollar school means $2 more on the tax rate for 20 years. We have one big uncertainty — a situation regarding our sewers."

He indicated the sewer cost could conceivably be a great expenditure and this should be considered along with future school programs.

Fred Kramer of the architectural firm of Perkins and Will, Chicago, indicated costs have gone up from 10 to 12 per cent over what they were two years ago when the referendum on a $956,000 junior high school was approved.

The complete "turn key" project cost, which includes land development, furnishings, architects fee and contingency could run in the neighborhood of $1 million.

He indicated the various economies the architects were planning in the school. The early spring months are a good time for taking bids, he said but the mayor mentioned that the bond market at this time may be rather high.

The savings on one hand might be wiped out by the increased interest costs, it was cited.

Award Plaque To Shepard From Jaycees

Continued From Page 1 to those for whom they work, and they have civic consciousness. But they do not pause for self-congratulation; they look ahead. They look ahead to the future and success of the American republic."

Davis reviewed the problems in founding the American republic. "The federal republic emerged after the anarchy, and it was decided it should have broad powers, . . . delegated powers, with the rest reserved to the people." The local and state governments, Davis said, were to have the most power, and the government at the top should not interfere with citizens' daily lives.

Wirth, Director of Winnebago Research, Receives Promotion

Oshkosh — Thomas L. Wirth, who headed an organized, long-range study of Lake Winnebago's fish problems while working out of the conservation office here, has been transferred to the Madison office of the conservation department where he will be warm water research project leader for the state.

Gordon R. Priegel, a research biologist at the Oshkosh office since April, will head Winnebago research.

Wirth has been here since 1952, first as biologist for the 17 counties covered by the Oshkosh office. Later he organized and became the first leader of the Lake Winnebago research project.

While here, Wirth did extensive research on sturgeon and often presented his findings to conservation meetings in the area.

or selecting people to administer and make policies. "You could live under dictatorship. It would be easier if you were willing to do as you are told; there would be no need to make judgments. Appointed officials would mold patterns of life.

"Because we have responsibilities, we should have no sympathy with those who sip cocktails and say they have nothing to do with politics." He then praised Shepard "because he is on the executive committee of a political party."

Concluding, Davis observed that just as a stream "cannot rise above its source, a nation cannot rise higher than its individual citizens."

March of Dimes Aids Neenah Area Girl Stricken With Polio

Neenah — The story of Donna Delores Potratz, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Potratz, route 2, Neenah, is but typical of those children, stricken with polio, who have received help from the March of Dimes. She and others like her benefit from the Mothers March which will be conducted in the Twin City area and nationally on Thursday night with mothers stopping at homes where porch lights are turned on. Donna was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was a year old.

Her case was not diagnosed immediately, as her legs and arms were not affected. Following a high fever, her mother noticed within a short time that her abdominal muscles appeared to be affected, and within a month it seemed that one shoulder was growing lower than the other. She was not as active as babies her age ought to be. Malformation of Spine A visit to a local orthopedic specialist confirmed the fact that Donna had had polio and was suffering from malformation of the spine. The Winnebago chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was notified at once. For the last four years Donna has had physiotherapy at Theda Clark hospital three times a week, regular visits to her doctor, and is supplied with a leather brace or corset, which she must wear all the time to correct and repair damage to the spine. All bills are paid by the

Winnebago county chapter of the national foundation. With this brace Donna can be as active as most little girls her age. She goes to kindergarten at the Spring Road school every day, and can ride a tricycle and roller skate. Sometimes the brace gets heavy and uncomfortable and she begs to leave it off for a while, but after a few hours she realizes how much she needs the support and comfort of the brace. These are adjusted and replaced as she grows. Up to the present time, she has had four braces. When Donna is a few years older, an operation on her spine may make it unnecessary for her to wear a brace, or go to the hospital for treatment. In the meantime, thanks to the March of Dimes, Donna is

Shares Up in Buying Wave

Market Turns Uneven In Fairly Active Afternoon Trading

New York — A vigorous buying wave erased a stock market slump and left prices mixed early this afternoon. Overall trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point peppered the list of key stocks.

In the wake of Monday's sharp decline the market was steadier at the start, with prices uneven. Then the market sagged quietly to some fairly steep losses. Chemicals were shaken down pretty badly. Steels and motors declined.

Brokers said prices received technical support as buyers rushed in fast enough to put the ticker tape behind transactions for a spell of eleven minutes. As trading moderated, the list held its recovery.

Steels and electronics were higher. Motors, chemicals, oils, tobaccos and drugs were irregular. Rails continued lower on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 70 cents to $220.80 but the industrials down to $1.20, the rails down 90 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Corporate bonds rose slightly. U. S. government bonds were steady.

ABC-TV Sets Series For Character Actor

'Masquerade Party' Moves Back to NBC-TV
Starting Friday; Cast Also Will Carry Over

BY JINGO
Lee J. Cobb, veteran character actor, will star in a dramatic anthology series for ABC-TV next fall. Desi Arnaz is putting the high adventure shows together.
"Masquerade Party" moves back to the NBC-TV network starting Friday. The cast also will carry over in the switch of networks, with Bert Parks emcee, Lee Bowman, Faye Emerson, Sam Levenson and Audrey Meadows on the panel and Johnny Olson announcing.

An all-star cast — including Ed Wynn, Bert Lahr, Nancy Olson and Russell Nype — has signed for "Startime's" colorcast of "The Greatest Man Alive." The story's adapted from the 1957 Broadway comedy of the same name. It's about a 72-year-old widower who decides that "after living unnoticed for 72 years, by golly, when I die, I want a little attention."

Robert Young, father of "Father Knows Best," will be the host and star of "TV Guide Award Show" on NBC-TV March 25. He will be seen as several different characters in a number of skits depicting the influence of television on the American home.

Robert Q. Lewis will take over as emcee for vacationing Bill Cullen on "The Price Is Right," starting Feb. 1. Cullen returns Feb. 15. Jack Paar seeks to enlarge his influence tonight in an hour-long special starting at 7:30 p. m. He claims he'll have several unannounced attractions.

Television adaptations of two outstanding movie hits of the late 1930s—"The Citadel" and "Ninotchka"—will be presented as 90-minute productions on ABC-TV. A. J. Cronin's "Citadel" is due Feb. 19, with Ann Blyth, James Donald and Louis Hayward in the leading roles. Robert Donat, Rosalind Russell and Rex Harrison played the principal parts in the movie. "Ninotchka" is slated April 20, with the cast unreported so far. Greta Garbo and Melvyn Douglas starred in the tongue-in-cheek battle over political ideologies in the original 1939 release.

Re-positioning of three programs to strengthen NBC-TV's Tuesday night schedule becomes effective today. "Laramie" goes at 8:30 p. m.; "Startime" at 7:30 p. m.; "Arthur Murray Party" at 8:30 p. m. and "M Squad" at 9 p. m. "Fibber McGee" gets dropped.

Heritage Saga No Western, Disappointing

'Destiny's Tot' on Timely Subject With Excellent Theater

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

New York —(AP)— In spite of advance notice that the American Heritage series would try its hand on a historian-approved western, the play Sunday was primarily set in Washington circa 1840 and was concerned largely with talk about opening up the west.

We followed John Charles Fremont's love affair with and marriage to a senator's daughter, but an announcer filled us in about his adventuring and map-making out west. However, we joined him for the last portion of the show — when he was looking for the Sacramento river valley — and then there were some studio shots of men freezing and starving in the high Sierra.

Ruth St. Denis, Often called the first lady of the dance, is kissed by husband Ted Shawn at her birthday party Sunday given in New York by dancer Martha Graham, left. Score of celebrities feted Miss St. Denis, who claims she is 82 rather than 80. The party was held four days after her anniversary because Miss St. Denis was on tour until the weekend.

that reminded me of "The Alaskans" series.
Jeffrey Hunter in a Gen Grant beard played Fremont — rather unsympathetically I thought — and Susan Strasberg was his wife. James Daly, playing Kit Carson, made himself up to look like Gabby Hayes.

CBS put on the first of its Television Workshop at noon Sunday. This is to be a weekly affair presenting new writers, actors and directors. The first was a new writer, Lewis John Carlin, whose play was called "The Brick and the Rose." Carlin seems to have a youthful preoccupation with psychiatry, the seamy side of life and rich colorful prose. The play itself was a sort of beat soap opera—the life of a sensitive young boy, spawn of a drunkard father and helpless mother, who feels rejected, takes to narcotics and dies of an overdose.

One of the more timely shows of the season was an afternoon special on NBC called "Destiny's Tot." This was an adaptation by S. Lee Pogostin from a psychiatric case history of a rabble rouser by Dr. Robert J. Linder. The mentally sick man was a leader of a pro-Nazi group during World War II and the play told his story in flashbacks. It was extremely effective, well acted and comes at a time when there have been widespread anti-Semitic outbreaks.

Ot Saturday night NBC kicked off the first of its Wide World 60 series — this a study of Cuba under Castro. It was crisp, informative and used film vividly.
Bing Crosby may very well be expelled from California after a long and public demonstration of nasty weather during the live ABC telecast of his golf tournament Sunday. The players were shown valiantly splashing around and shivering in what looked like a combination gale and downpour.
Actually, golf is no sport to handle on television with live broadcasts. It goes too slowly. The big Crosby tournament was hard to follow — it bobbed back and forth among the last three holes, and flashed back to tape made earlier to get some celebrity interviews.

Wow! When Charlie Gets Going He Certainly Writes a Mouthful

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Petpaurri — A patient fellow of New York set out to establish which are the most used words in the English language. To find out, he read dozen's of newspapers and periodicals and 15 authors who had turned out a total of 240,000 words.

In the order shown, here are what he decided are the most commonly used words:

1. The; 2. Of; 3. And; 4. To; 5. A; 6. In; 7. That; 8. Is; 9. I; 10. It; 11. For; 12. As.

Printers know that the lower case letter "e" is used more than any other, but not so well known is the fact that the letter "s" begins about 37,000 words.

Other letters which begin words, and their rank, has been established something like this:

C—29,000; P—28,000; A—19,000; T—15,000; D—14,400; R—14,200; F—11,800; H—11,200.

I am not sure who has the longest name in the world, but the honor is claimed by an East Indian who visited London and caused so much bother about his lengthy monicker that people just called him Sir 754 because that was the number of his hotel room. But his full title is Diwan Bahadur Sir Tiruvayangul V. Jayaraghavacharya.

Much more interesting, at least to the American eye, are some of the names of our own Indians, like the following from a sale of Indian lands in the Dakotas:

Katherine Good Crow,

Extension of Road Okayed

3½ Mile Portion Of County Trunk Approved by State

Chilton — A 3½ mile extension of County Trunk K located three miles north of Brillion has received approval of the State Highway commission, according to Arthur Schnell, Calumet county highway commissioner.

The county road now runs through from its intersection with County Trunk PP westward to intersect with Highway 57. It formerly stopped on joining PP from the east.

Reverting back to the town of Brillion's road system is 3½ miles of County Trunk W between PP and the town road now designated as County Trunk K.

The action was initiated at the November session of the board of supervisors but did not become official until marking signs were placed under authorization of the highway commission.

Ergotamine Drugs Help Stop Migraine, Other Headaches

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

A recent medical conference included a discussion of headaches, revolving in part, about the use of the ergotamine drugs. I've favored these drugs for a good long time, and they are discussed, of course, in my booklet on how to stop suffering from headaches.

Ergotamine drugs are certainly successful in stopping migraine headaches. They also do as well for many front-of-the-head type of headaches which aren't migraine, as well as for headaches which are loosely called "migraine" but actually have some striking differences technically.

In short, probably something approaching three out of four headaches are of the type that may yield to these drugs—there are different varieties, some combined with caffeine, some with a sedative, and so on.

Use Drug Early

But — and here's the important thing whether the headache is a true migraine or some other form—you've got to use the drug quickly, when the headache is barely starting or, better yet, before it has started but you recognize the signs which mean one is coming.

To what I might call the amateur headache sufferers, this probably doesn't make much sense. But people who are victims of repeated and frequent and severe headaches will recognize what I mean. When a savage headache is soon to start, people learn to recognize such signs as queasiness of the stomach, spots before the eyes, jitters, tenseness or other advance warning. (It varies from person to person; each must discover his or her own signs.)

The purpose of the ergotamines (these are prescription drugs) is to expand blood vessels which have become tense, putting strain on the tissues in the headache area. In the brain, that is.

If they can be relaxed quickly, you avoid the headache, or at least make it mild and brief.

If you don't induce this re-

I don't know if he is still living, but one fellow of Berkeley, Calif., claimed to have the shortest name in the world—simply Mr. X.

Mr. X didn't come by this name in the proper fashion, however. He was originally Henry Clifford Stuart. But he said there were 9 persons in his home town whose name was H. C. Stuart. So, our Mr. H. C. had his name legally changed to plain, old Mr. X.

The printers will not love me for this column, but I have a need to discuss long words in various languages. Most people believe that the longest word in the English language is antidisestablishmentarianism which means an opposition to the theory of the disestablishment of the church. But it is a word of only 28 letters.

A longer english word, with 30 letters, is "proantitransubstantiationist" which specifies a person who is in favor of the theory which holds that the theory of transubstantiation is unfounded. Transubstantiation is a doctrine of some churches.

In Oberammergau, the people make a cheese which is described in a word of 71 letters; Oberammergauerpässionsfestspielalpenkrauterklosterdelikatfruhstuckskase.

A Flemish word for automobile contains 41 letters, and I think it is hard enough to pronounce so that a fellow would be inclined to keep a horse and buggy instead of asking for a car. Snelpaard-eelooszonderspoorwegpeterrijtuig.

The Welsh name some of their towns to describe the locality, and that is the case with the town known generally as Llanfair, but whose real name is Llanfairpwllgwyllgegyrchwyradrobwllan-t-h-y-nagoegech. It translates specifically to these descriptive terms: the church of St. Mary in a hollow of white hazel near to the rapid whirlpool by a red cave.

I am quite sure I have not properly translated the following German word but I believe I have come close to it. It contains 102 letters which seem to mean about this: "the polish of the uniform buttons of the office servants of the main administration of the steamship society of lake vierwaldstaedter."

Ready now? The word: vierwaldstaedterseedamppf-

Solons to Study Escheat Plans

Assembly Approves New 7-Year System For Lost Deposits

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Should unclaimed property such as bank deposits, undistributed dividends, utility deposits and others revert to the state earlier than after the 20-year period long specified in Wisconsin law?

The issue will be disputed when the state legislature returns in May. The state assembly already has approved a 7-year system of escheats, but the state senate, deferred action when considerable opposition turned up to the measure which was passed quickly and routinely by the lower house of the legislature.

Such a plan would provide a substantial return to the state treasury, according to general estimates. The 7-year unclaimed property act is sponsored by the commission on uniform state laws, who already have persuaded other legislatures to adopt it. Prepare Fight

Banks, utilities and other corporations are understood to be preparing to fight the proposal when it comes up for action again.

Wisconsin has been yielding up to $80,000 a year under its present 20 year law from escheated bank accounts and estates.

The revised proposal is broader, and would also provide a seven year abandonment period for property held or owing by any other financial organization including life insurance corporation. The last known address of the owner must have been in this state, deposits and funds held by utilities, undistributed dividends and distributions of corporations, and property held by fiduciaries, courts, public officials and other persons. There would be a publication procedure, and a method for the claiming of property. The state department of administration would be in charge of such escheats.

Mr. Glenn H. Arthur
Advertising Director
Appleton Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

Over a period of years there are certain factors we have come to depend upon in the operation and development of our business. One of the most important of these is our advertising in the Appleton Post-Crescent. We have found this to be indispensable.

Since starting in business in Appleton in 1949 we have continuously increased our reliance on advertising in the Post-Crescent to increase our volume of business. In the past five years we have increased our annual use of Post-Crescent advertising by 73% -- and sales results have more than confirmed our judgment in so doing.

Eight years ago we built a new store, with about 6,000 square feet of space, between Appleton and Menasha on Highway 47. Four years ago we built an addition to increase the size of our store to 10,000 square feet of space, to enable us to carry a larger stock of quality furniture and floor coverings. Post-Crescent advertising not only made this possible, but necessary.

In December of last year we very substantially increased our advertising in the Post-Crescent over December of 1958, using the added impact of COLOR on most of our ads. We are happy to tell you that our sales for December were 30% greater than in the previous December...the largest December in our history.

We feel that the combination of selling "Quality For Less" and relying increasingly on Post-Crescent advertising will show a continuation of the gratifying past growth in our business. We recognize and appreciate the important part the Post-Crescent, and your representative, Wilmer Krueger -- who handles our account, have played, and are playing, in this growth.

Very truly yours,
Henry J. Patzner
